ISRAEL'S SHARON TESTIFIES ON BEIRUT MASSACRE

OW261011 Beijing XINHUA in English 0824 GMT 26 Oct 82

[Text] Beijing, 26 Oct (XINHUA)--Israeli Defense Minister Ari'el Sharon has admitted that he authorized Lebanese rightwing militiamen to enter West Beirut refugee camps where some 1,000 Palestinians were slaughtered in mid-September.

Sharon, architect of the June 6 invasion of Lebanon, was giving evidence to the judicial inquiry commission into the massacre at its opening session yesterday, according to reports reaching here.

Sharon said that the Israeli cabinet backed "in principle" his decision to allow Lebanese militiamen into the Sabra and Shatila camps.

Sharon requested a private session to tell the commission headed by Supreme Court Chief Justice Yitzhaq Kahan the "real reason" why he gave the go-ahead, but he said at the public session that Israelis did not enter the camps due to the extreme combativeness of the armed Palestinians still there and in order to "spare the lives of Israeli soldiers."

Sharon also said that Israel decided to invade West Beirut at midnight of September 14 only hours after Lebanese president-elect Bashir al-Jumayyil was assassinated.

He said that he made a personal visit to an Israeli observation post overlooking the camps the following morning and after the visit, it was decided to let the militiamen into the Sabra and Shatila camps.

Sharon added that he learned of the massacre from General Eytan 24 hours after it began but then failed to tell Prime Minister Menachem Begin of what he learned that night.

Sharon gave testimony after General Eytan and Israeli military intelligence chief Yeshshua.

The commission, set up after Menachem Begin came under intense pressure for a full-scale independent investigation, is expected to call Menachem Begin later.

BRITISH CONSERVATIVE PARTY ENDS CONFERENCE

OW090841 Beijing XINHUA in English 0822 GMT 9 Oct 82

[Text] Brighton, England, 8 Oct (XINHUA)--Britain's ruling Conservative Party ended its four-day annual conference here this afternoon in a mood of marching towards the next general election, which is expected within 12 to 18 months.

Addressing the closing session this afternoon, Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher expressed her determination to continue her government's present policy. "We will not disguise our purpose nor betray our principles," she said.

On Britain's foreign policy, Mrs. Thatcher stated that "a strong and united Western alliance is a guarantee of our peace and security." She pledged that her government would give the highest priority to national defence, both conventional and nuclear. She also told the delegates: "We seek agreement with the Soviet Union on arms control. We want to reduce the levels of both conventional and nuclear forces." But she insisted that those reductions must be mutual, balanced and verifiable.

Foreign Secretary Francis Pym pointed out in the debate on overseas affairs that the main danger to security and peace was still the possibility that the Soviet Union would expand its influence by force or the threat of force. Therefore, he said, "The arguments of the unilateral disarmers are dangerously naive."

The foreign secretary stressed the role of the EEC, saying that "I am more than ever convinced that our membership of the community is crucial to the success of our foreign policy."

Referring to Britain's relations with the developing countries, the foreign secretary described the economic development of the Third World as being contributory to "our security and prosperity as well as theirs."

Speaking on the subject of "keeping our defences strong," Defence Secretary John Nott said: "Peace must be maintained through strength, not weakness." He stressed that Britain's determination in defence rested on three commitments: The maintenance and modernisation of the independent nuclear capability; a strong conventional naval, army and air force; and the maintenance of a force structure within the NATO framework.

On the economic issues, both speeches delivered by government ministers and motions adopted at the conference were aimed at carrying on the government's economic strategy to keep down public borrowing so as to relieve the pressure on interest rates. For this purpose the government emphasized the need to continue the fight against inflation, to cut back public spending, to denationalise some of the state-owned industries and to free business from state control. Rejecting the demand for lower taxes, Geoffrey Howe, chancellor of the exchequer, said: "Tax reductions will be made only as and when we can afford them."

END OF EEC-U.S. STEEL DISPUTE NOTED

OW221321 Beijing XINHUA in English 1228 GMT 22 Oct 82

[Text] Brussels, 21 Oct (XINHUA)--The European Economic Community today agreed to limit steel exports to the United States voluntarily, thus resolving the ten-month old dispute on the issue.

This was announced by the EEC commission's Vice-President Etienne Davignon at a press conference here today.

An arrangement was agreed upon which proposes limiting European exports of carbon steel and alloy steel products to 5.7 percent of total U.S. consumption and limiting European shipments of steel pipes and tubes to 5.9 percent of the American market, the average attained between 1979 and 1981.

The arrangement was made on October 11 when the European Commission accepted American steelmakers' amendments to the agreement reached last August 6 on European steel exports to the United States. In exchange U.S. steelmakers agreed to drop anti-dumping complaints against government subsidized European steel exports.

The agreement, which places limits on European steel exports until the end of 1985, was reached little more than two hours before the U.S. Commerce Department was due to impose hefty duties on European steel imports. It followed hours of frantic talks between the community ambassadors here to settle West German objections to the deal.

West Germany, the largest European steel producer with a third of total community steel exports to the United States, had opposed inclusion of its pipe and tube production, arguing that U.S. firms were seeking the restrictions to protect themselves against state-aided European imports while West German steelmakers were virtually unsubsidised and faved zero or minimal penalties.

Etienne Davignon told reporters that the accord would guarantee the European steelmakers' share of one of their most important markets. The European industry is said to be still in the midst of one of its most serious financial crises despite steel production cutbacks and massive redundancies in recent years.

The Europeans' share of U.S. steel sales would fall by around nine percent this year compared to 1981, Davignon said.

EEC Commission Vice-President Wilhelm Haferkamp today called the pact a major step towards restoring transatlantic cooperation, hit in recent months by rows over the construction of a Soviet gas pipeline and farm trade, as well as steel.

He told newsmen the agreement was additional proof "of the strength of the foundations of collaboration between the two banks of the Atlantic." He added: "We are convinced that with the same political will, the same patience and the same tenacity, the EEC and the U.S. will be capable of resolving other problems."

IRAQ ACCEPTS NEW ISLAMIC PEACE PROPOSALS

OW270416 Beijing XINHUA in English 0318 GMT 27 Oct 82

[Text] Baghdad, 26 Oct (XINHUA)--Iraq today announced that it had accepted new Islamic peace proposals including an immediate ceasefire in its war with Iran, the Iraqi News Agency reported.

INA quoted an Iraqi foreign minister official as saying that his country "wants the Islamic and world public opinion to be acquainted with the obstacles faced by the Islamic mission and the real attitude of both Iraq and Iran toward the new proposals."

The new proposals, submitted to both Iraq and Iran by the Islamic goodwill committee last Saturday, call on both countries to withdraw their troops to the internationally recognized borders in accordance with the Algiers 1975 agreement.

Iranian President 'Ali Khamene'i Sunday rejected the plan, saying it failed to meet Iran's demands for calling Iraq an aggressor and for the payment of war reparations.

The proposals suggest the deployment of Islamic forces or observers from the member states of the Islamic conference organization on the common borders accepted by both parties.

The Islamic goodwill committee headed by Guinean President Sekou Toure also suggests the formation of a committee acceptable to the two nations to solve the border question and another body to determine who the aggressor is and to condemn it.

The committee proposes the establishment of an "Islamic solidarity fund" to extend immediate aid to both governments to rebuild their countries.

The new proposals are based on the general principle that the two countries should respect each other's national sovereignty and territorial integrity and reiterate their adherence to the principles of non-acquisition of territory by force.

BRIEFS

UK MALVINAS VICTORY PARADE--Recently, London held her largest military review since World War II, to celebrate Britain's victory in the Malvinas war. More than 1,000 officers and soldiers who had taken part in the war were reviewed. Planes, guns, tanks and guided missiles also appeared on the scene. It was a great occasion. However, to men of insight, it was no more than a farce. Relying its powerful military force, Britain snatched the Malvinas from Argentina, a Third World country. Such a "victory" of aggression is not at all glorious and does not deserve such a celebration. As a matter of fact, Britain has been strongly condemned by the international community because of this war. As regards morality, she has suffered great losses. Moreover, the dispute over the Malvinas is not over because the British are now in occupation. Most Third World and nonaligned countries have always supported the Argentinian demand to its sovereignty over the Malvinas. Was it not too early for Britain to celebrate its "victory" in such a jubilant manner? Besides, the commemoration day for Columbus' discovery of America was selected for this London "celebration." This made a mockery of history. How could Britain's recent military adventure in Latin America be mentioned in the same breath with the pioneering deeds of Columbus 400 years ago? As was pointed out by a Spanish official, this act can only result in doubling people's righteous indignation. [Text] [HK221045 Beijing RENMIN RIBAO in Chinese 22 Oct 82 p 6]

SCHMIDT ON CHANCELLORSHIP--Bonn, 26 Oct (XINHUA)--Former chancellor Helmut Schmidt told deputies of his Social Democratic Party today that he will not run for chancellorship again in next March's general election. Schmidt, 63, cited his health and differences with his party as reasons behind his decision not to seek re-election. Talking about his differences with his party, Schmidt said that the policy direction of his party will probably bring about new quarrels. Some people want him to be a candidate so as to maintain the stability and continuity of the party policies. He also cited his disagreement with other people over the deployment of U.S. missiles in West Germany next year and over economic and energy policies as reasons for not running in the election. Schmidt told his Social Democratic Party that his age and health made him reject the re-election. He underwent an operation last October to have a heart pacemaker fitted following several bouts of ill-health. After Schmidt's retirement as candidate of the Social Democratic Party, the successor may be chosen between Hans-Jochen Vogel, SCP leader of West Berlin, and Johannes Rau, minister-president of North Rhine-Westphalia, the party sources said. ROUNDUP OF APPEARANCES BY EAST REGION LEADERS

OW030105 [Editorial Report] Fuzhou Fujian Provincial Services in Mandarin at 1120 GMT on 27 September carries a report of less than one minute saying: "Comrade Xiang Nan presided over a plenary session of the Fujian Provincial CPC Committee" on the afternoon of 26 September. The meeting was said to have discussed what the provincial party committee should do in carrying out rural work in this winter and next spring.

The same service at 1120 GMT on 27 September also carries a 4.5-minute report on the speech made by "Wen Xiushan, member of the Standing Committee of the provincial party committee, in an enlarged session of the provincial party committee" held on the morning of 26 September. He was speaking about the rural work to be carried out this winter and next spring, according to the report. In his speech, he calls for efforts to fulfill the task of studying, propagating and implementing the documents of the 12th CPC National Congress, to combat economic crime and unhealthy tendencies, to improve public order, and to fulfill the targets in growing grain crops.

Hefei Anhui Provincial Service in Mandarin at 1100 GMT on 28 September transmitted a 4-minute report on the 27 September closing of the "fifth Anhui provincial athletic meet." The closing ceremony was held in "the provincial handball center." It was reportedly attended by "Zhou Zijian, Yan Youmin, Yang Weiping, Su Yu, Liu Lianmin, (Shi Jingjie), (Shi Chun), (Wang Yuzhoa), Cheng Yetang, Hou Yong, Wei Xinyi and Li Qingquan, leading comrades of the provincial party committee, provincial people's congress Standing Committee, provincial people's government, provincial military district and Hefei Municipality." The report added that Wei Xinyi, "vice governor and chairman of the (?organization) committee for the fifth Anhui provincial athletic meet," spoke at the ceremony, calling for further progress in training outstanding sportsmen to represent the province in future national athletic meets.

Shanghai City Service in Mandarin at 2300 GMT on 29 September carried an 1.5-minute item, reporting that "Shanghai municipal CPC committee first secretary Chen Guodong and municipal CPC committee secretary and mayor Wang Daohan, accompanied by deputy head (Lu Muyun) of the finance and trade office of the municipal government and others," inspected some stores in a street and a food market on 29 September. The two leaders expressed their concern for the workers there and found the stores and markets were satisfactorily stocked for the national day and the mid-autumn festival, according to the report.

Nanchang Jiangxi Provincial Service in Mandarin at 1100 GMT on 30 September carried a 4-minute report on "work inspections made of the neighborhoods, stores and food markets by the provincial and municipal leading comrades on the morning of 30 September." These "provincial and municipal leading comrades" mentioned in the report separately are "Bai Dongcai, Fu Yutian, Wu Ping and Xu Qin," who made their inspections in the company of municipal CPC committee deputy secretaries (Wang Xianwen) and (Zhu Tongjin); "(Zhao Zengyi), Zhao Zhijian, Wang Zhaorong, Li Shizhang, Fang Qian, (Xu Shaolin), (Yao Xidong) and (Jiang Jinqing)," who also extended festival greetings to the workers and staff members they met during their inspections; and "provincial CPPCC committee vice chairmen Lai Shaoyao, Shen Haqing and Liu Jianhua," who carried out inspections as part of still another group. According to the report, some of these leading comrades had a discussion during the inspection on the livelihood of the people. In the discussion, "provincial CPC committee first secretary Bai Dongcai said we must find satisfactory solutions to the two problems about which urban people are most concerned. One is the problem of vegetable supply and the other is the problem of living quarters. At present, both of these two departments are seriously afflicted with unhealthy tendencies. Some responsible comrades have gone so far as to each keep several housing units under his personal occupation by taking advantage of their positions and powers, while there are still many people who have to accommodate as many as three to five generations of their families in one single house. Should we allow such things to go on unchecked? He called on both the provincial and municipal governments to work out some regulations and sternly adopt administrative and economic means to deal with the problem. Otherwise, we would become divorced from the masses. 'To serve the people' would be just an empty talk."

The same service at 1100 GMT on 30 September also carried a 1.5-minute report on the soiree held by the provincial cultural bureau on 29 September to welcome all those who came to Nanchang for the national children's drama festival. The report said: "Before the soiree, our province's party and government responsible comrades Bai Dongcai, (Zhao Zengyi), Fang Zhichun and Xu Qin" and others met the leaders of the leading group of the festival and various participating troupes and specialists.

Nanchang Jiangxi Provincial Service in Mandarin at 1100 GMT on 1 October carried a 2-minute report on inspection of an urban construction project in Nanchang by "provincial and municipal leading comrades" on 1 October. According to the report, these leaders were "Bai Dongcai, first secretary of the Jiangxi Provincial CPC Committee; (Zhao Zengyi), secretary of the provincial CPC committee and acting governor; Wu Ping, deputy secretary of the provincial CPC committee and secretary of the Nanchang Municipal CPC Committee; and Zhao Zhijian, member of the Standing Committee of the provincial CPC committee and mayor of Nanchang city." These leaders extended festival greetings to the construction personnel and encouraged them to do a good job for the project, which involves a bridge, the report added.

YUAN DYNASTY VALUED CONSULTING SERVICE PROVIDED BY RETIRED OFFICIALS

Beijing BEIJING WANBAO in Chinese 4 Aug 82 p 3 .

[Article by Sui Xiwen [7131 0823 2429]: "The Yuan Dynasty Valued Advisors"]

[Text] In its early years the Yuan Dynasty attached much importance to the employment of retired officials as its advisers.

A former expositor of the Hanlin Academy, Dou Mo [4535 1075] had already retired to his native place when Emperor Shizu of the Yuan Dynasty (Kublai) sent an emissary to summon him back to the capital, there presented him with a residence and a monthly emolument. "Since Dou Mo was old, he did not actually attend office, but if important events of state occurred, he was usually consulted." In a period of over 10 years, "he acted as advisor in many cases." Dou Mo lived to the ripe age of 85. Many more cases of retired officials being reemployed as advisers could be quoted, as for instance the Hanlin Academician for the Transmission of Directives Wang E [3769 5501] and academician Wang Pan [3769 4323], who, after their retirement "were consulted by special emissaries of the Throne whenever an important event occurred," their opinions were bound to be sought before action was taken" and "messengers were sent to consult them." These advisers played an important role in the Throne's decision-making.

Although the Yuan Dynasty had not established explicit institutions to regulate the employment of retired officials as advisers, the literature and documents of the time reveal that the Yuan Court solicited their advice with an open mind and that they were employed to counsel and submit opinions in a very sincere and earnest attitude, which is deeply touching even when measured by today's viewpoints. For instance, Dong Yong [5576 3938], an academician for the transmission of directives in the Hanlin Academy, who had retired to his native place due to old age in the first year of the "da de" reign [1297], was summoned several times to appear before Emperor Chengzong [1295-1308] to "inform of events in the preceding dynasty, "when their talks lasted till far into the night." The way the emperor often talked with retired old officials of state till deep into the night seems to show that these counsellors played a more important role than the regular officers of state. When the Yuan Court decided to compile the records of Emperor Shizu, the compilers were told to "obtain information" from Dong Yong. When the Court despatched someone to far-away places or transferred someone to an official post away from the capital, "these people would first obtain information" from Dong Yong, before embarking on their journey. Dong Yong was also freely communicating everything he knew. He always "guided and taught," and many greatly benefited from his instructions, and "at day's end some would forget about leaving him." ("Biographies of Famous Men of the Yuan Dynasty") There was also Song Zizhen, a former minister of state, who had retired in the 3rd year of the "zhi yuan" reign [1267] and was specially reappointed a minister. He was "consulted at his home whenever an important event occurred." The fact that advice was sought by going to the home of a retired official and the adviser is not merely summoned to Court to give his report, indicates again the prevailing sincere and earnest attitude. Song Zizhen was also one who had retired from office, but not from work. "Whenever he heard of something in public affairs that was unfavorable for the people, he would get his writing utensils ready and send off a dispatch," thus providing the Yuan Court with a number of good opinions.

Most of the above advisers lived in the time of Kublai, which indicates that Kublai was an emperor who was willing to employ retired officials and have them contribute their special capabilities. The Mongols were originally a nomad people of the north, in culture and social institutions far behind the Han people. In the early stages they despised intellectuals as a "stinking ninth category" of people, but Kublai was earnest in his desire to provide good government, was willing to learn from specialists and to develop all resources of knowledge. The employment of the upper level intellectuals of the Han people with their great special experiences contributed to make Kublai's reign the period of greatest prosperity and power of the whole Yuan period.

MANY INTELLECTUALS BECOME LEADING CADRES IN GANSU

Beijing RENMIN RIBAO in Chinese 12 Aug 82 p 1

[Text] Enhance the Strength of the Leadership, Open UP New Prospects in Our Work, Raise Work Efficiency--In Gansu a Large Number of Intellectuals Enter the Leading Bodies--In Line With the Demands for More Revolutionization, More Participation by Young Men, More Knowledge and More Specialization.

Our correspondents Xi Yongnian [6742 3057 1628] and Guo Fenxiang [6753 3083 4382] report: Since the Third Plenary Session of the 11th CPC Central Committee, over 1,200 intellectuals have joined the county and higher level leading groups in Gansu Province. Of these, 4 serve at the provincial level, 124 at the level of prefectural bureaux and 1,096 at the level of county divisions. This is highly effective in strengthening party leadership and in rendering the leading bodies more revolutionized, participated in by younger men, more knowledgeable and provided with more specialized expertise.

Gansu is located in a border area of our country. The cultural level of its cadres is low and their outlook is rather limited. Leading comrades of the central authorities once pointed out that the Gansu cadres must overcome their "rustic parochialism," to conform with the demands of the four modernizations drive. Since the Third Plenary Session and following the implementation of our new policy toward the intellectuals, the leading bodies at all levels have revised their prejudice against the intellectuals, have free-heartedly absorbed the best of them, and made changes in the organizational and intellectual structure of the leading bodies. In 1979 Gansu Province elected the incumbent party secretary and president of Lanzhou University, Liu Bing [0491 0393], and another intellectual who is a party member, to deputy provincial chairmen in charge of cultural and educational affairs, scientific research and public health services. Beginning of this year Liu Bing also assumed the position of deputy secretary of the provincial party committee. Spurred on by the provincial party committee and the provincial people's government, the 13 prefectural and zhou municipalities, the 82 departments directly under the provincial government and the 81 counties, municipalities and districts elected intellectuals into their leaderships. At present the whole province has already 5 prefectural and zhou municipal party committees and 37 county party committees, as well as 47 county government leadership groups that have basically reached the standards demanded by the central authorities as regards revolutionization, participation of younger men, more knowledgeable expertise and specialization.

The entry of these intellectuals into the leading groups of county and higher level governments brought about three changes. The first was that the leadership was strengthened, that the thorough implementation of all principles and policies since the Third Plenary Session was ensured and that the construction of the two kinds of civilization, material and spiritual, was being pushed ahead. The second change was that the situation of "layment leading experts" was changed and that new prospects were opened up in work. For many years Gansu had been completely silent as far as literary and art creations were concerned, but since three intellectuals joined the leading group of the Provincial Culture Bureau, literary and art work experienced a great upsurge. The literary and art stage of Gansu Province put on successively such excellent stage plays as "Flowers and Rain on the Silk Road," "The Xi'an Incident," and "Nan-tian zhu" [Pillar of the Southern Sky]!. The third change was a switch away from vague general leadership and the raising of work efficiency. The Lanzhou Oil Refinery is a factory of 10,000 staff and workers. Originally its leadership group was overstaffed, but had a rather small number of competent intellectuals. After the Third Plenary Session it added a few intellectuals to its leading group and trimmed the group down to 12 men. With the new leadership group production went up continuously, the product assortment was constantly increased, the annual gross product value exceeded 800 million yuan and profits of over 200 million yuan were turned over to the government (accounting for one-third of the total profits turned over to the government per year by all of Gansu industry). In 1981 the Petroleum Ministry praised this plant as being a "red flag" [pacesetter] of the whole country's oil refinery system.

HEILONGJIANG PROVINCE STUDIES PARTY CONGRESS DOCUMENTS

[Report: "Our Hearts and the Hearts of Delegates to the 12th Party Congress Leap Together--Party Members and Cadres of Organs Directly Under the Jurisdiction of the Province and Harbin Municipality and the Masses Have Been Conscientiously Studying and Enthusiastically Discussing the Spirit of the 12th Congress During the Past Few Days"]

[Text] Party members and cadres of organs under the direct jurisdiction of the province and Harbin Municipality and the masses have during the past few days been conscientiously studying and enthusiastically discussing Comrade Deng Xiaoping's opening address and Comrade Hu Yaobang's report to the 12th Congress.

During these days, organs under the direct jurisdiction of the province have been conscientiously studying the spirit of the 12th Congress by adopting such methods as study and discussion and by keeping in line with the reality of work in their own respective units and departments. Comrades of units like the united front department of the provincial party committee, the research office of the provincial party committee, the provincial CPPCC, the party school of the provincial party committee, and the provincial Academy of Social Sciences have cited a large amount of facts during their study to illustrate that since the Third Plenary Session of the 11th Party Central Committee, our country has already brought about a historic, great shift. They say: Comrade Deng Xiaoping's opening address and Comrade Hu Yaobang's report have voiced the heartfelt wishes of the vast ranks of the masses; these are important documents of the party and state at this historic turning point. The 12th Party Congress is bound to accomplish the task of closing off the old situation and bringing about a new situation. Some comrades who are engaged in scientific theoretical research are of the opinion that the strategic target set forth in Comrade Hu Yaobang's report--to quadruple the gross annual value of industrial and agricultural production in our economic development--is objective and scientific, with both a strict scientific attitude and a magnificent determination to forge courageously ahead. We have the experience of 30 years since the founding of our state and also the firm leadership of our tested and trustworthy Party Central Committees. This strategic target is bound to be realized.

The various commissions, division, departments, and bureaus of the provincial government have during the past few days rapidly stirred up an enthusiastic trend to study and propagate the spirit of the 12th Congress. Every day, units like the provincial construction commission and the provincial finance division have closely grasped the completion of the given day's work and then have sat down to discuss enthusiastically the reports given at the 12th Congress on that day. Many party member comrades say that, although we are located far away from Beijing, our hearts nonetheless leap together with the hearts of delegates to the 12th Congress! During the last 2 days, leading comrades of the party groups and committees of various units have all taken the lead in studying. Wang Weizhi [3769 4850 0037], head of the provincial General Bureau of Forestry, said: "In the report he made on behalf of the Party Central Committee, Comrade Hu Yaobang has given a clear exposition of the strategic target, strategic deployment, and strategic key points of our economic development. As communists, we must link our own activity with the enhancement of the factors of communism and thereby further strengthen our confidence in struggling for communism. Wen Bingxue [2429 3521 1331], chief of the farm water conservancy department of the provincial Water Conservancy Bureau, associate chief engineer, and a party member of Korean nationality, said that Comrade Deng Xiaoping's opening address and Comrade Hu Yaobang's report have voiced our heartfelt wishes and conveyed the people's will and demands. After the 12th Congress, the party will be rectified according to the requirements of the new party constitution; we are full of confidence in the sure prospect of seeing our party workstyle achieve a fundamental turn for the better even faster. Party members and cadres of units such as the provincial Foreign Trade Bureau, Material Supplies Bureau, and Animal Husbandry Bureau all indicated during their study and discussion that they want with one heart and one mind to rally closely around the new Party Central Committee and to exert themselves to strive so that the blueprint for the four modernizations will soon turn into reality on China's soil.

The Standing Committee of the Harbin Municipal Party Committee continued in the forenoon of 3 September to study the spirit of the 12th Congress. During the past few days, party organizations at various levels in the municipality have organized the vast ranks of party members, cadres, and masses of the staff and workers to conscientiously study Comrade Deng Xiaoping's opening address and Comrade Hu Yaobang's report at the 12th Congress, and have paid attention to guiding the political enthusiasm of the vast ranks of the party members and masses toward [gaining] a profound understanding of the spirit of the 12th Congress and toward doing a good job in handling their incumbent tasks.

GIVING SCOPE TO ROLE OF INTELLECTUALS REQUIRED

[Report: "Give Scope to the Role of Intellectuals in the Realization of Our Magnificent Goals in Economic Construction-- Provincial Party Committee Issues Circular To Post Six Required Points]

[Text] Recently, the provincial party committee issued a circular to party committees at various levels to require leading comrades at all levels to further heighten their understanding of the great significance and urgency of doing a good job in their work on intellectuals, to conscientiously implement the spirit of the series of directives the party Central Committee has issued on our work on intellectuals, and to concretely grasp the following six tasks:

1. Further heighten our understanding and strengthen our leadership over the work of intellectuals. Party committees in the various localities and departments are to carry out a comprehensive study of the problems discovered during the inspection of our work concerning intellectuals not long ago and solve whatever they are able to solve; in the case of those problems which can hardly be solved for the time being, they are to formulate plans and solve them gradually; in the case of problems that cannot be solved presently, they are to explain the circumstances and do a good job of interpretation. They are to reinforce ideological and political work on intellectuals, and promote leaders at various levels who will make friends with intellectuals and regularly understand the problems in their work, study, and life. From now on, party committees above county level are to discuss at least once every half year and inspect at least once every year our work on intellectuals in order to discover problems and solve them in a timely manner.

2. Solve in a practical manner certain problems in the politics and life of the intellectuals and, before the end of this year, bring a good beginning to a good end in concluding the reinvestigation work on rectifying the unjust, false, and erroneous cases of litigation during the "Cultural Revolution." With regard to the question of implementing our policy on letting them have private housing and sorting out and returning to them their once-confiscated properties, they are to get a grasp of such implementation according to existing regulations of the party Central Committee. On the question of intellectuals who wish to read the documents and listen to the reports, the party organizations of the units where they are located are to make proper arrangements and solve this [question] according to the pertinent regulations and their needs in their work.

3. Conscientiously solve well the intellectuals' practical difficulties such as housing. In building housing, they are to base themselves on the principle of "uniform leadership, teamwork and divided responsibilities, active arrangements, and solution through dispersion," follow the jurisdiction relationship between units and the system of financial control, adopt the approach of letting the concerned units take the basic responsibility and the higher department provide appropriate subsidies, and suggest to the various localities that under feasible conditions they should take out a partial investment from their local flexible funds to be used as such subsidies. In the meantime, when they distribute housing to staff and workers, the various units from now on are to consider and pay attention to solving the difficulties of intellectuals. They are to strive to improve considerably the housing of middle-aged intellectuals, through a 3-to-5-year effort.

4. Do a good job in handling readjustment for the scientific and technical professional cadres so as to give full scope to their wisdom and talent. In order to solve the problem of the serious shortage of scientific and technical professional cadres in the overall operational process of our province's industrial enterprises such as light industries, textiles, and food processing, we must carry out this task of readjustment with leadership and in a planned way through a variety of channels such as "transfer (transferring personnel), borrowing (borrowing for particular engagements), invitation (recruitment), help (helping others), contractual responsibility (heavy industry guaranteeing a responsible supply of personnel to light industries), joint handling (handling technical projects jointly), and training (raising personnel through training operations)."

5. Get a close handle on the task of training scientific and technical professional talents well. The organizational departments of party committees at various levels should work in conjunction with planning committees and other such concerned departments to subsume plans on the training and education of intellectuals in line with the plans for the development of our national economy, so as to promote the raising of talent. In the case of scientific and technical professional personnel equivalent to lecturer and above, they should generally be given a leave of from 3½ months to half a year every 3 years for advanced study. All units should make overall arrangements and correctly handle the relationship between work and advanced study.

6. Do a good job of solving the problem of experts serving in too many positions concurrently and of assigning assistants to them. There should be a readjustment of those experts who at present serve in too many positions concurrently and from now on they should be subject to control by the department in charge. In the case of professors and those equivalent to professors who are without assistants, efforts must be made to get a close handle on making all such necessary assignments within the year. All localities and departments must pay attention to selecting fine scientific and technical professional cadres in order to strengthen their leading groups.

[Text] On the morning of 20 September, the Fuzhou PLA units held a rally of party cadres of organs and contingents directly under those units. After conveying the guidelines of the 12th CPC National Congress, the rally urged party cadres to be models in studying and implementing the documents of that congress [words indistinct] regular and revolutionary army and to create a new situation in all fields of socialist modernization.

A total of 2,198 persons attended, including Standing Committee members of the party committee and other leading comrades of the Fuzhou PLA units; leading members of these units' command staff, political and logistics departments' party cadres of contingents at the platoon level and those directly under these units as well as a number of cadres on convalescence leave.

The rally was presided over by Cao Punan, head of the Fuzhou PLA units' political department. Fu Kuiqing, political commissar of Fuzhou PLA units, delivered a report on the 12th CPC National Congress in his capacity as the representative of Fuzhou PLA units' delegates to that congress.

Comrade Fu Kuiqing's report described the grand occasion of the 12th CPC National congress and its principal guidelines. He said: This congress inherited and advanced the line of the Eighth CPC National Congress and enriched and developed the line, principles and policies formulated at the Third Plenary Session of the 11th CPC Central Committee. The documents adopted at this congress, which laid the foundation for achieving socialist modernization, point out the orientation for building Chinese-type socialism and provide guidelines for the various tasks of socialist construction in the country. The congress is the most important meeting since the Seventh National Congress of the CPC. It will certainly be recorded in a brilliant page of our party's history.

Fu Kuiqing continued: Comrade Hu Yaobang's report is a correct program for creating a new situation in all fields of socialist modernization. In studying this report, we should pay special attention to the following principal guidelines spelled out in it:

1. A main target for the next 5 years is to strive for a fundamental turn for the better in the country's financial and economic situation, in standards of social conduct and in the style of our party.

2. To bring about an all-round upsurge of the socialist economy is the most important task for creating a new situation in all fields of work.
3. Socialist spiritual civilization with communist ideology at its core is the most important characteristic of socialism.
4. To attain a high level of socialist democracy is a great principle for socialist political construction.
5. The guiding principles for strengthening national defense and the unity of our nationalities and for developing relations with various countries are spelled out in his report.

In conclusion, Comrade Fu Kuiqing set forth requirements for party members, cadres and fighters on how to study and implement the guidelines of the 12th CPC National Congress. He said: Comrade Deng Xiaoping's opening speech at the congress should be the general guidance for studying and implementing the 12th CPC National Congress' documents. Efforts are needed to thoroughly study Comrade Hu Yaobang's report, the new party constitution, the speeches by Comrades Ye Jianying and Chen Yun, and Comrade Li Xiannian's closing speech at the congress. It is necessary to fully understand the great victory won by the party and the people of the country it leads in bringing order out of chaos since the 3d Plenary Session of the 11th CPC Central Committee as well as to understand the basic experience gained in this connection.

We should deeply understand the strategic goal of and fighting program for creating an all-round new situation in socialist modernization, clearly understand the basic spirit of the new party constitution and its great significance in further strengthening party building, have firm faith in the party leadership and increase our awareness of the need to maintain political unanimity with the party Central Committee. Using the guidelines of the 12th CPC National Congress as a driving force, we should exert efforts to build a socialist spiritual civilization with communist ideology as its core, vigorously strike at economic and other crimes, step up military training and fulfill still better the various tasks of combat preparedness.

Comrade Fu Kuiqing emphatically pointed out: To study, propagate and implement the 12th CPC National Congress' documents, party committees at all levels should strengthen their organizational leadership and grasp this work as a matter of prime importance. While studying these documents themselves, leaders at various levels should go to grassroots units to publicize these documents and answer questions in the course of study at the grassroots level so that the guidelines of the party national congress can be understood by everyone and take root in the hearts of the masses. By so doing, the thinking of the commanders and fighters will be unified on the basis of the party national congress' guidelines and our work will be promoted smoothly.

Fu Kuiqing called on Communist Party members, commanders and fighters, workers and their dependents to brace up and, under the leadership of the party Central Committee, concert their efforts to fulfill the glorious tasks assigned to our army by the 12th CPC National Congress.

XINJIANG AIR FORCE CADRES MEETING HELD

HK291205 Urumqi Xinjiang Regional Service in Mandarin 1300 GMT 25 Sep 82

[Excerpts] A meeting of party and propaganda cadres at and above the regimental level of the Xinjiang unit air force closed on 25 September. The meeting decided to start with raising the communist ideological consciousness of cadres and soldiers and developing in depth the building of the army's socialist spiritual civilization.

While studying the 12th congress documents, particularly on the problem of building socialist spiritual civilization, the participants had a heated discussion. They said: In his report, Comrade Hu Yaobang raised the problem of building socialist spiritual civilization to a strategic level. This is a development of Marxist theory and practice. Through study we have realized that socialist spiritual civilization is an important characteristic of the superiority of the socialist system and that communist ideology is the core of socialist spiritual civilization. We have deepened our understanding of the significance of building socialist spiritual civilization.

At the end of the meeting, Yang Yongbin, commissar of the air force headquarters of the Urumqi unit, delivered a concluding speech. He said: The building of socialist spiritual civilization is a long-term strategic task for our party. Party committees at all levels must grasp this work firmly and well. At present, we must conscientiously implement the spirit of the 12th CPC Congress and firmly grasp the core of building socialist spiritual civilization. We must fundamentally raise the communist consciousness of cadres and soldiers.

Comrade Yang Yongbin put forward five points for carrying out communist ideological education in the army: 1. We must further lead the cadres and soldiers to study revolutionary theory and establish the lofty ideals of communism. We must purposefully and in a planned way organize the army to study relevant Marxist-Leninist works and works of Comrade Mao Zedong.

2. We must explain to cadres and soldiers that communism is constantly advancing in practice and bringing benefits to mankind. The work led by our party is a component part of the communist movement. All our efforts are made for the realization of this great objective. Therefore, we must further strengthen the faith of cadres and soldiers in communism.

3. We must educate cadres and soldiers to consciously resist the corrosion of capitalist ideas and have firm confidence in the superiority of socialism.

4. We must educate party cadres to strengthen their sense of responsibility to the party and be a model in observing discipline and be in conformity politically with the CPC Central Committee.

5. We must educate cadres and soldiers to have the overall revolutionary situation in mind, establish the idea of regarding hard work as an honor, love and take root in the border region and do one's own work well in order to make new contributions in defending and constructing the border region.

The delegates of various nationalities attending the meeting held a discussion on the relationship between nationalities mentioned in Comrade Hu Yaobang's report. They said: We must further develop socialist new nationality relationships based on equality, unity and mutual aid, and unite as one with the various nationalities of Xinjiang to continuously strive for creating a new situation in all fields of socialist modernization.

During the study and discussion, the attendants unanimously pointed out: The 12th congress regards the building and development of the new relationship between nationalities as an important indication of building socialist spiritual civilization and a high level of socialist democracy. This has called on us to raise the unity between nationalities to a new level. The PLA must firmly establish the idea that a people's army cannot be divorced from the people. In constructing and defending the border region, we must rely on the people of various nationalities, unite with them and advance together. This is the fundamental guarantee that we have won one victory after another. The attendants also considered that supporting socialist construction in the border region is a glorious task for the troops stationed there.

Cadres above regimental level attending the meeting also said at the discussion: to insist on the four basic principles of the party is the political base and guarantee for the unity of the various nationalities. Party members must have firm party spirit, must be bold to combat all forms of behavior that sabotage unity and split our motherland and must make a contribution to further strengthening national unity.

SHANGHAI'S CHEN GUODONG TELEVISION SPEECH

OW040047 Shanghai City Service in Mandarin 1130 GMT 26 Sep 82

[Speech by Chen Guodong, first secretary of the Shanghai Municipal CPC Committee: "The Achievements and Significance of the 12th CPC National Congress"--at Shanghai television station on the evening of 26 September--recorded]

[Excerpts] The achievements of the 12th CPC National Congress, which is the most important party congress after the 7th CPC National Congress, can be generalized as follows:

1. It examined and approved the report submitted by the 11th CPC Central Committee and formulated the correct program, as well as a series of relevant principles and policies, to create a new situation in all fields of socialist modernization;
2. It examined and approved the new CPC Constitution and formulated the program, system and various organizational principles of building our party into a strong leading core of socialist modernization;
3. It elected the new Central Committee and the new central advisory commission and the central commission for discipline inspection.

Within the new central leading organs, there are proletarian revolutionaries of the older generation, who are the mainstay, as well as a large number of middle-aged and young cadres who are professionally and morally proficient, energetic and knowledgeable, and experienced in modernization. This is a big step forward in the cooperation of old and new cadres and succession of the new to the old.

The significance of the congress can be generalized in the following four respects:

1. The great historic significance of the congress can be observed from the comparison of historical facts cited in Comrade Hu Yaobang's report, which made a comparison of our party's historic change after the smashing of the Jiang Qing counterrevolutionary clique, and particularly after the 3d Plenary Session of the 11th CPC Central Committee, with the two previous historic changes during the period of democratic revolution, and from the opening speech by Comrade Deng Xiaoping, who compared the 12th and the 7th CPC National Congresses. Despite the vast differences of historical conditions from the previous two changes, the current change has once again proved that the socialist and communist cause led by the CPC accords with historical laws and the aspirations of masses and has invincible vitality, and that the CPC, after the loss of comrades Mao Zedong, Zhou Enlai, Liu Shaoqi, Zhu De and a large number of exceptional leaders, has still proved itself a strong core that can surmount all sorts of adversities, control all types of complexities and lead the Chinese people to achieve one victory after another.

2. The program set forth by the congress to create a new situation in all fields and the various principles and tasks of this program are a replenishment and development of the correct line set forth by the 3d Plenary Session of the 11th CPC Central Committee, thus further enriching and perfecting this line and making it more practical. This has further ensured the continuity and stability of our party's and our people's progress along the correct line set forth by the 3d Plenary Session of the 11th CPC Central Committee.

3. The report--especially the first and last portions--of the 12th CPC National Congress, and Comrade Deng Xiaoping's opening speech are highly significant, as they have pointed out that our party and people will take their own path and build socialism with Chinese characteristics. This is an expression of Mao Zedong Thought and the principles of seeking truth from facts, following the mass line and upholding independence and self-reliance.

4. The principles and task set forth by the congress will play a significant role in guiding our future work. They are the basis for our tasks in socialist construction, and also the basis for strengthening the building of the party and correctly carrying out party consolidation. The tasks set by the congress include:

--quadrupling the gross annual output value of the nation's industrial and agricultural production during the 20-year period from 1981 to the year 2000. This objective will be accomplished in two steps. This means that the 20-year period will be strategically divided into its first and second decades;

--accomplishing the three strategic projects of developing agriculture, energy resources and communications, education and science;

--achieving a fundamental change for the better in our country's financial and economic situation, social conduct and party style in the next 5 years;

--restructuring the administration and the economic set-up, building a socialist spiritual civilization, striking at the serious crimes of sabotaging socialism in the economic and other spheres and consolidating party style and party organizations--projects known as the four guarantees.

These are great, strategic policy decisions which accord the nation's fundamental interests. Guided by the principles of the congress, we certainly will be able to create a new situation of socialist modernization and bring prosperity to our party, our socialist cause and our state and people of all nationalities.

MAO ZHIYONG CONGRATULATES WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL TEAM

HK281344 Changsha Hunan Provincial Service in Mandarin 2310 GMT 26 Sep 82

[Excerpts] At noon on 26 September, when the television station passed on the good news about the Chinese women's volleyball team winning the Gold Cup at the Ninth World Women's Volleyball Championship in Lima, the capital of Peru, a reporter came to the residence of the delegates to the seventh enlarged plenary meeting of the Fourth Hunan Provincial CPC Committee to visit Comrade Mao Zhiyong. Comrade Mao Zhiyong first very gladly expressed his wish to congratulate and learn from the Chinese women's volleyball team. He said: Many comrades attending the enlarged meeting of the Provincial CPC Committee watched the television program without having their lunch. They were very excited after they saw the Chinese women's volleyball team win the final victory.

Comrade Mao Zhiyong said: The situation of industrial and agricultural production in our province this year is good. The total value of industrial output from January to August was 9.5 percent more than in the corresponding period last year. After implementing the spirit of the 12th Party Congress, many units are revising their original plans, taking new measures and striving to make a greater contribution to the country.

Although the situation is good, we must not relax our efforts. Like the Chinese women's volleyball team, we must not relax our efforts when we are confronted with difficulties and we must not be proud when we face victory. For the sake of our motherland's honor and for the purpose of building the four modernizations, we must constantly scale new heights.

Comrade Mao Zhiyong also emphatically pointed out: All physical culture workers must learn from the Chinese women's volleyball team very well. The 12th Party Congress issued the combat call to open up a new situation in all fields of socialist modernization. The Chinese women's volleyball team got off to a good start in opening up a new situation in the field of physical culture. The comrades on the physical culture front in our province must regard the fifth provincial sports meet as a good start and actively open up a new situation in the field of physical culture. It is necessary to do well in grasping the building of the forces of physical culture and sports in order to train more people of ability, score achievements quickly, constantly break records and scale heights. In the meantime, it is essential to deeply and universally carry out mass sports activities so that everyone has good health and can vigorously embark on the four modernizations.

FUJIAN VICE GOVERNOR DISCUSSES SPIRITUAL CIVILIZATION

OW300817 Fuzhou Fujian Provincial Service in Mandarin 1120 GMT 26 Sep 82

[Excerpts] Zhang Gexin, member of the Fujian Provincial CPC Committee and vice governor, delivered a speech at an enlarged session of the provincial CPC committee on 25 September. His speech dealt with how to create a new situation in building a socialist spiritual civilization in the province.

Comrade Zhang Gexin said: Any society needs ideological support. The socialist ideological support is spiritual civilization with communist ideology at its core. The 10 years of internal chaos in the country inflicted serious mental wounds on the people. This factor together with Fujian's geographical location and its historical background have made it almost impossible for us to avoid the influence of bourgeois ideology and way of life in our open door dealings with foreign countries. Some people, especially young people, have therefore become obsessed with individualist ideas and concerned only with money and other practical benefits. Disillusioned with the mortal world, they say that life is nothing but a dream and that they are in this world to do nothing. They are either cynical or depressed. Generally, they do not have ideals, confidence, goals nor a scientific Marxist world outlook. In short, they do not have ideological support.

Comrade Zhang Gexin continued: We should vigorously promote communist morality and practices, adhere to laws and observe discipline, commend good people and their meritorious deeds, uphold justice, criticize bad people and their wrongdoings as well as various evil practices and bad habits, and resolutely strike at criminal activities in the economic and other fields. These are important tasks for building a socialist spiritual civilization with communist ideology at its core.

Zhang Gexin concluded: It is necessary to strengthen party leadership over the task to build a spiritual civilization. With emphasis on implementing the guidelines of the 12th CPC National Congress, party committees should strengthen their leadership over this task and over party building so as to create a new situation in building a socialist spiritual civilization in the province.

SHANGHAI UNITED FRONT DISCUSSES CPC CONGRESS

OW021112 Shanghai City Service in Mandarin 1130 GMT 28 Sep 82

[Text] The united front work department of the Shanghai Municipal CPC Committee held a meeting on the afternoon of 28 September to introduce and explain the 12th CPC National Congress guidelines to nonparty personages. Comrades Chen Guodong and Hu Lijiao attended and addressed the meeting.

Comrade Zhou Gucheng, who had attended the 12th congress as an observer, was the first to take the floor to tell about his own feelings. He said: "I am deeply impressed that the party's feelings towards us nonparty persons are sincere and that the relations between the party on the one hand and the various democratic parties and independents on the other are those of utter sincerity and common fate. He said: I want to ask: The 12th party congress having put forth a grand [word indistinct], what should us democratic parties do? He said that democratic parties should also create a new situation in their work. For this purpose, he suggested that just as the party attaches importance to the position and role of the democratic parties, the democratic parties should attach importance to their own organizations and to making full use of the advantages of their organizations. They should do their work with great purpose.

Comrade Hu Lijiao made detailed explanations of the objectives of China's economic work, building of spiritual civilization, striving for a turn for the better in party style, on the election of the Central Committee and two central commissions, and the consolidation and expansion of the broadest united front.

Comrade Chen Guodong, speaking in close connection with Shanghai's practical conditions, talked about the historical change, the great new tasks and the bringing about of an all-round upsurge of the socialist economy. He also dwelt on the tremendous significance of abolishing the cadres' life-time tenure system. He first pointed out that Shanghai had been the birthplace and counterrevolutionary base of the "gang of four." This is a stern and profound lesson. We should never forget about it.

Comrade Chen Guodong said: Much has yet to be done to turn Shanghai's party organization into a fighting fortress for implementing the party Central Committee's correct line. Although things have been set to rights in the guiding ideology, the task of completely setting things right in the political, organizational and ideological fields is still vast and tortuous. He asked nonparty personages to be friends of CPC members, not hesitating to remonstrate, treating each other with all sincerity and sharing weal and woe in order to consolidate and expand the broadest patriotic united front and strive to create a new situation in the socialist modernization.

The meeting was presided over by Comrade Zhang Chengzong. Comrade Zhao Xingzhi was present.

Hu Hong, permanent secretary of the provincial CPC committee, delivered a summing-up speech on behalf of the provincial CPC committee. He called on the whole province to further study, propagate and implement the guidelines of the 12th CPC National Congress.

Comrade Hu Hong discusses four questions. The first question was how to have a profound understanding of the guidelines of the 12th CPC National Congress. He said: To summarize, the guidelines of the 12th CPC National Congress are aimed at creating a new situation in all fields of socialist modernization.

The second question which Comrade Hu Hong discussed was how to further strengthen unity. He said that in order to strengthen unity, we must enhance our party spirit and eliminate factionalism.

The third question which Hu Hong discussed was on how we need to do our present work well.

He said:

1. We should further emancipate our minds and widen our field of vision. With the condition of guaranteeing the fulfillment of the grain production plan, we should open up more avenues of production to improve the livelihood of peasants sooner. We must fulfill the plan to grow 32 million my of grain in 1983.

2. We should continue to stabilize and perfect the system of responsibility in production and arouse the masses' enthusiasm by pursuing correct policies. We should promote the contract system in all fields. Industrial, communications and commercial enterprises should seriously popularize the system of economic responsibility.

3. We should regard the building of a socialist spiritual civilization as an important task.

4. We should immediately step up preparations for organizational reform.

5. We should do a good job in consolidating selected party organizations on an experimental basis.

The last question discussed by Comrade Hu Hong dealt with how to continue the study and propagation of the guidelines of the 12th CPC National Congress and how to implement them. He set some demands for it.

He said: Party committees at all levels should seriously organize all party members to study the documents of the 12th CPC National Congress and make it their first important task. We should convene enlarged meetings of country party committees and convey well the guidelines of the 12th CPC National Congress to the leadership of the party branches. At the same time, we should organize well contingents of propagandists and adopt various effective measures to truly make the guidelines of the congress known to every family.

This broadcasting station, which was established in October 1959, stopped service in June 1962, during the first readjustment of our national economy. Mao Zhiyong, first secretary of the Provincial CPC Committee, delivered a closing speech. On behalf of the Provincial CPC Committee and people's government, he warmly acclaimed the complete success of the sports meet and extended warm greetings to the sportsmen and sportswomen who had attained outstanding achievements.

Comrade Mao Zhiyong said: The work of physical culture is a major issue for bringing benefit to the people, making the country strong and inspiring the national spirit. In his report to the 12th Party Congress, Comrade Hu Yaobang looked upon physical culture as an important aspect in building socialist spiritual civilization. He pointed out that the development of various cultural undertakings, including physical culture, is an important requisite both for the building of material civilization and for the raising of people's political consciousness and moral standards. We should strive to implement this guiding ideology, further develop sports undertakings and strive to create a new situation in the work of physical culture in our province.

Comrade Mao Zhiyong said: In order to create a new situation in the work of physical culture, it is necessary, first of all, to pay close attention to the study and implementation of the documents of the 12th Party Congress and use the guidelines of the 12th Party Congress to guide the physical culture work. It is necessary to vigorously develop mass sports activities and train a large number of excellent physical culture reserves. Only in this will it be

FUJIAN CONDUCTS CLASS FOR PROPAGANDA CADRES

[Excerpts] A training class for propaganda and theoretical cadres to study documents of the 12th CPC party congress, jointly sponsored by the propaganda department and the party school of the provincial party committee, ended on 27 September. Opened on 11 September, the class lasted 17 days.

Comrade Cheng Xu, secretary of the Fujian Provincial CPC Committee and delegate to the 12th CPC National Congress, spoke at the graduation ceremony. He stressed: Party committees at various levels, all party members and cadres in the province and all propaganda and theoretical workers should conscientiously study and propagate the documents of the 12th party congress with great political enthusiasm to bring into full play the tremendous mobilizing and organizing role of the documents, so that the whole party and the people of the whole province will further heighten their spirits and strive, with one heart and one mind, to accomplish the fighting tasks set by the 12th party congress.

Cheng Xu pointed out: It is necessary to regard the study of 12th party congress documents as the most important task. Party committees at various levels should hold serious discussions and work out concrete arrangements. Leading cadres at various levels, especially those at and above county level, should take the lead in study, go to the grassroots' level and personally explain and publicize the documents, take concrete actions to implement the guidelines of the 12th party congress and do well in all fields of work. Propaganda departments at various levels and comrades on the propaganda and theoretical fronts should make organizing study and propagation of the documents their central task and the most honorable duty for some time to come and concentrate their efforts on doing it well. All mass propaganda systems, including newspapers, periodicals, television, radio and other press units, theatrical performance organizations, grassroots level broadcasting stations, cultural centers and so forth, should mobilize and actively launch activities to propagate 12th party congress documents. Efforts should be made to create a new situation in propaganda work through the study of the documents.

In his speech, Comrade Cheng Xu also answered questions raised by the comrades present. He said: The party Central Committee suggested that, in studying the 12th party congress documents, Comrade Deng Xiaoping's opening speech should be regarded as the overall guiding ideology. This is completely the same as to say that the communist ideology should be taken as the guidance. Both Comrade Deng Xiaoping's opening speech and the other 12th party congress documents have a red line running through them, and both were drafted under the guidance of communist ideology. We should boldly propagate communist ideology and conduct education among the masses of the people, particularly party members and young people, on communist ideals, beliefs and moral values.

Comrade Cheng Xu said: Since the smashing of the Jiang Qing counterrevolutionary clique and, in particular, since the 3d Plenary Session of the 11th Party Central Committee, we have won, through the arduous efforts of the whole party, the entire army and the people of all our nationalities, major successes in setting right our work in the ideological, political, organizational, economic, cultural and military spheres and in the work of the party. This is evident to all. These great successes fully demonstrate that we have effected a great historic change. That we have effected a great historic change does not mean that we have solved all the problems left over from history. The "left" mistakes made before and during the "Cultural Revolution" had a deep and extensive influence and caused serious damage in our country. The problems accumulated are very many and cannot possibly all be solved in a few years. However, our party has already reaffirmed the correct Marxist line and formulated a correct program and a series of correct principles and policies, thus laying the foundation for successfully settling the problems left over from history, solving the difficulties confronting us, creating a new situation and winning new victories in socialist construction.

Cheng Xu also called for strengthening the ranks of propaganda and theoretical workers. He said: Party committees at various levels should all pay attention to building up the ranks of propaganda and theoretical workers and conscientiously select propaganda and theoretical cadres for training at the party school. Attention should be paid to selecting a number of college graduates who have high political consciousness and a certain theoretical basis and comrades who have educated themselves in strengthening the propaganda and theoretical ranks. It is necessary to strengthen the administration and education of the existing propaganda and theoretical cadres.

Ming Zufan, deputy director of the propaganda department and secretary of the party committee of the party school of the provincial party committee, presided over the graduation ceremony and made arrangements for current study and propagation of the 12th party congress documents.

SK040750 Jinan Shandong Provincial Service in Mandarin 2300 GMT 3 Oct 82

[Excerpts] In an interview with our reporter, (Cui Zhenhua), director of the provincial forestry department, pointed out: Efforts must be made to conscientiously implement the guidelines of the 12th party congress, and do a better job in afforestation in order to accelerate the construction of mountainous areas and to create a new situation in our province's forestry construction.

Comrade (Cui Zhenhua) said: The 12th party congress defined the general task of our party in the new historic period and the grand fighting goal for developing the national economy in the coming 20 years and set forth new demands on protecting and developing forestry. This is a great encouragement to our cadres and the masses on the forestry front. We are determined to do a solid job with a new attitude and strive to create a new situation in our province's forestry construction.

At present, all localities, on the basis of conscientiously studying and implementing the guidelines of the 12th party congress, must fix mountain and forest ownership certificates, designate hilly lands and beach areas in line with local conditions and formulate all kinds of forestry production responsibility systems that are suited to each specific locality and unit. Efforts must be made to first manage protection forests well with an emphasis on water resource containment forests and actively develop economic forests that can produce preserved and fresh fruits and timber forests according to local conditions. Efforts must be made to build small tracts of fast growing forests in a planned manner in the plains with an emphasis on building tree belts around farm plots and houses and along rivers, roads and ditches so as to gradually form a new-style farmland protection forest system by linking together forest network, tree belts and wooded tracts. Scientific technology must be popularized so as to raise the level of scientific afforestation and forest management.

To integrate the study of the 12th party congress with the current production, leaders at all levels on the forestry front must actively form a work force to conduct investigations and research at grassroots. The provincial forestry department intends to organize a number of cadres to go separately to some key counties in hilly lands and plains to help carry out forestry production during the winter-spring period in order to implement the guidelines of the 12th party congress with concrete deeds.

FUJIAN LAUNCHES NEW CIVILITY, COURTESY CAMPAIGN

OW050053 Beijing XINHUA Domestic Service in Chinese 0701 GMT 3 Oct 82

[Excerpts] Fuzhou, 3 Oct (XINHUA)--The Fujian Provincial CPC Committee recently decided to launch mass activities throughout the province similar to those of the "civility and courtesy month" and designated late September through the end of October for this program in an effort to promote spiritual civilization.

In his report to the 12th CPC National Congress, Comrade Hu Yaobang made an incisive and profound exposition on socialist spiritual civilization with communist ideology as its core, emphatically pointing out the importance of building a socialist spiritual civilization, the Fujian Provincial CPC Committee stated.

The following main points were stressed by the provincial CPC committee as being essential to the mass activities program throughout the province:

1. While conscientiously studying and propagating the 12th CPC National Congress' documents, it is necessary to widely publicize the significance of building socialist spiritual civilization and to propagate the principles and tasks thereof so that they will be understood by every household and take root in the hearts of the people. In the course of these tasks it is essential to see that leading cadres at all levels and the masses will become more aware of the need to become involved in the mass activities program.
2. Education in communist ideals, morality and discipline should be promoted as the central link of this program and firmly grasped from beginning to end. To build spiritual civilization with communist ideology at its core, it is necessary to keep in mind the current thinking of cadres and the masses and to carry out among them effective education in Marxism-Leninism-Mao Zedong Thought; in the history, especially modern history, of the motherland; in the party's platform, history and revolutionary traditions; and in the constitution, citizen's rights and obligations, and morality.
3. The program is also aimed at eliminating the state of dirtiness, disorder and poor service in Fuzhou, Xiamen and five other cities in the province. To help develop the program throughout the province, it is imperative to eliminate the state of dirtiness, disorder and poor service at railway stations, airports, sea-ports, stores, inns, hotels, movie theaters, parks, tourist centers and hospitals.

SHANDONG MUNICIPAL SECRETARY SPEAKS ON GRAND OBJECTIVE

SK050501 Jinan Shandong Provincial Service in Mandarin 2300 GMT 4 Oct 82

[Recorded talk by (Sun Zhiyuan), secretary of the Zibo Municipal CPC Committee: "Give Full Play to the Superiority in Heavy Industry of Zibo Municipality and Contribute to Creating a New Situation in All Fields of Socialist Modernization"--date and place not given]

[Excerpts] In the course of studying the documents of the 12th CPC Congress, our Zibo Municipality's party members, cadres and people were greatly inspired when they discussed the objective of quadrupling China's industrial and agricultural output value by the end of this century. They were determined to take into account the situation of the country as a whole, give full play to the municipality's superiority in heavy industry and make contributions to creating a new situation in all fields of socialist modernization.

In line with the strategic objective, priorities and steps and the principles and policies set at the congress and the actual situation in Zibo as a heavy industrial city, we should take self-reliance and hard work as our strategic measure and make full use of the present foundation of our enterprises to consolidate enterprises and carry out technical innovations. In the first 10 years, we should mainly engage in laying a solid foundation, accumulating strength, creating conditions and making preparations for the all-round economic development in the latter 10 years. We plan to double our industrial and agricultural output value in the first 10 years before 1990, that is to increase from 4.43 billion yuan in 1980 to 8.86 billion yuan.

In accordance with the strategic objective of China's economic development we think that we have favorable conditions for developing Zibo's economic construction:

1. We have fairly abundant resources. Departments of basic industries, such as [words indistinct] coal and petrochemical industries, are able to provide a considerable amount of raw materials and fuels every year.
2. We have a fairly substantial industrial technological foundation. We now have 923 industrial enterprises of various categories with total fixed assets of 3.36 billion yuan. With these enterprises, we have built our municipality into a base area of basic industries with large and medium-sized enterprises as its main body.

3. (?We have developed) agriculture that suits the needs of the development of urban industries. Industry and agriculture promote each other and the latter has provided good conditions for industrial development.

4. Our industrial and agricultural output value is 84 times the figure of 33 years ago when the PRC was founded. The average annual increase has been 12 percent. The average annual increase in industrial production has been 40.32 percent. We have gained both positive and negative experiences in economic construction.

What is more important, the 12th CPC Congress has formulated a definite program, steps, principles and policies for the economic construction. We are full of confidence when we look ahead. Provided we conscientiously implement the guidelines of the congress, give full play to the superiority in heavy industry of Zibo Municipality [words indistinct] work in unison, our Zibo Municipality will surely accomplish [word indistinct] objective and quadrupling the annual industrial and agricultural output value by the end of this century.

WAN DA CALLS ON HUNAN TO EMANCIPATE MINDS

HK060853 Changsha Hunan Provincial Service in Mandarin 2310 GMT 5 Oct 82

[Excerpts] The seventh enlarged plenary meeting of the Fourth Hunan Provincial CPC Committee closed on 5 October. Wan Da, second secretary of the Provincial CPC Committee, delivered an important speech on behalf of the standing committee of the Provincial CPC Committee.

The general purpose of the meeting was to relay and study the documents of the 12th CPC Congress, to reach a deep understanding of the spirit of the congress so as to unify the thinking of all delegates and raise their understanding on the fighting program of the party, to raise their ideological consciousness and to raise their confidence in the revolutionary cause. On this basis, the meeting planned the tasks for this winter and next year.

The meeting had full confidence in the central party leadership; they profoundly understood that the party Central Committee had a high level of understanding of Marxism, was capable of having the complicated situation in hand and provided a firm leadership core in leading the people to surmount all difficulties and obstacles and to win victory. This close and harmonious, firm and stable leadership is the most important guarantee for our country to maintain long-term stability and create a new situation.

In his important speech, delivered on 3 October, Wan Da said: To create a new situation, we must further emancipate our minds. In order to implement the spirit of the 12th CPC Congress well, one of the important tasks of Hunan Province is to tell the leading cadres to study well the documents of the 12th CPC Congress, conscientiously sum up historical experience, learn from its lessons, broaden our thinking, consciously follow the direction of the CPC Central Committee and be bold in creating a new situation.

Comrade Wan Da enumerated the circumstances of Hunan Province not properly following the CPC Central Committee on some important matters for a certain period after the 3d plenary session of the 11th CPC Central Committee. He said: Although we have done a lot of work in eliminating the influence of the left and have achieved some results, and although we have to guard against and overcome the influence of the right, we must also never underestimate the influence of the left and never underestimate the influence of the idea of the two what-ers. We must review lessons and experiences of the past, and in accordance with the line, principle and policy of the CPC Central Committee since the 3d plenary session of the 11th CPC Central Committee, consider carefully what are the problems that have been solved, on what problems are our minds still not emancipated and what are the problems that we have to prevent. This will be of great use to us in studying and implementing the spirit of the 12th CPC Congress.

Comrade Wan Da also mentioned about the arrangement of work for this winter and next year and the problem of improving and strengthening party leadership. He said: Hunan Province must emphasise the following tasks this winter and next year: 1) Regard the study of the 12th CPC Congress documents as a major event and grasp it well. First of all, we must have a correct study attitude, establish a fine study atmosphere, conscientiously study and master the essence of the documents and integrate it with the study of the basic theory of Marx, Lenin and Mao Zedong and deepen our understanding. On this basis, closely combine our practice with the practice of the local departments and units and solve the problems that can be solved. 2) Earnestly grasp the reform of administrative structure. The reform of the administrative structure of Hunan must follow the plans of the CPC Central Committee. In grasping this work well, leaders of various levels must have great determination, be steady and unified in their thinking. 3) Comprehensively accomplish the economic tasks of this year and actively set out long-term plans. We must comprehensively accomplish the tasks of the national economy of this year. On the basis of improving the economic results, we must resolutely work to realize fourfold results and increase to fivefold, strive to achieve fivefold and increase to sixfold. In agriculture, we must grasp the management work of late rice and industrial crops and strive for an all-round harvest. The task of the fourth quarter of the year in industry is weighty. Party committees and government at all levels must concentrate forces to promote this task. All trades and professions must make preparation work for the upsurge of the national economy in the next year. 4) Make great efforts to grasp the building of socialist spiritual civilization and socialist democracy. 5) Run well the experimental units rectifying the party work style and actively make preparations for the overall rectification of party work style.

The CYL organizations at all levels throughout the province have extensively conducted education on adhering to the four basic principles and on cherishing the party, the state and socialism among youths, enabling more and more youths to have faith in Marxism-Leninism-Mao Zedong Thought and to deepen their boundless love of the party and socialism.

In the past 3 years, some 482,500 youths in the province have been admitted into the CYL organizations and some 10,050 CYL members have been gloriously accepted into the Communist Party of China. Thousands and thousands of outstanding youths have assumed posts in the party and government organs. A great number of new-long-march shock workers and teams have come to the fore. The activities on learning from Lei Feng and fostering new habits and on the five-stresses and four-beauties which have been conducted among youths for years have enabled them achieve gratifying improvement in their mental outlook. JIANGSU CPC DEPARTMENT HOLDS MEETING ON CADRES

OW061151 Nanjing Jiangsu Provincial Service in Mandarin 2300 GMT 5 Oct 82

[Excerpts] Shortly before national day, the organization department of the Jiangsu Provincial CPC Committee held a discussion meeting of responsible persons of departments and sections and of members of party branch committees to study and understand the guidelines of documents of the 12th party congress. In the light of their own thinking and the realities in work, the comrades freely discussed the view and stipulations on strengthening the ranks of cadres in Comrade Hu Yaobang's report and the new party constitution.

The comrades pointed out that our cadre ranks are now going through a period of cooperation between old and new cadres and of succession of the new to the old. In the past 2 years or so, more than 800 outstanding young and middle-aged cadres have been promoted to leading bodies at and above the county level in our province, and more have been promoted to leading bodies at the grassroots level. However, we are still falling far behind in responding to the call of the party Central Committee to train and promote hundreds of thousands of young and middle-aged cadres.

The comrades at the meeting realized from experience in actual work that to insure that the ranks of cadres become more revolutionary, younger in average age, better educated and more professionally competent, it is essential to do a good job in cadre training. In the past 3 years or so, the province has trained more than 410,000 cadres of various levels and fields of work. More than 3,500 leading cadres at and above the county level have been trained on a rotation basis. With the four modernizations in progress and the need for revolutionary, younger, better educated and professionally more competent cadres, cadre education should also be regularized.

WAN DA DISCUSSES CONGRESS AT HUNAN CPC SESSION

HK080924 Changsha Hunan Provincial Service in Mandarin 1100 GMT 6 Oct 82

[Excerpts] During the seventh enlarged plenary session of the Fourth Hunan Provincial CPC Committee held on 3 October, Comrade Wan Da, second secretary of the Provincial CPC Committee, noted: In order to truly merge the guiding thoughts of our leading cadres at all levels into the spirit of the 12th National Party Congress, we must develop the range of our thinking and open up new prospects in the following five ways:

1. We must strengthen our devotion to the cause of the party, inspire revolutionary enthusiasm and have strong faith in opening up new prospects.
2. We must persist in proceeding from reality in all cases and scientifically and creatively carry out work.
3. We must take a broad and long-term strategic view, attach major importance to developing science and technology and strengthen our efforts to exploit and invest in intelligence. Not only industrial and agricultural development requires science and technology, but the development of trade and other undertakings also requires science and technology. At present, leaders of some areas and units attach insufficient importance to scientific and technical personnel and have not done nearly enough to make rational use of scientific and technical personnel. It is imperative to conscientiously solve this problem.
4. We must overcome the tendency to overlook ideological and political work and strengthen the building of socialist spiritual civilization which regards the communist ideology as its core. In the past few years, some areas and units have slackened their efforts to carry out ideological and political work, thus weakening this work. As a result, some harmful trends have emerged such as working according to remuneration and putting monetary rewards and considerations above all else. These trends are detrimental to the development of our socialist modernization program. We should do very well in summing up historical experiences. While grasping the building of socialist material civilization, we must attach great importance to the building of socialist spiritual civilization and truly carry out the building of socialist spiritual civilization as a strategic guiding principle.
5. In carrying out every task, we must uphold the mass line and respect the people's creative initiative and pioneering spirit.

Through the joint efforts made by all the participating comrades, the session achieved the desired results. The participating comrades are of the same view that they have learned a profound lesson, that they have been greatly inspired and that they have achieved a deeper understanding.

In his speech delivered on the morning of 3 October, Comrade Wan Da stressed: To open up new prospects, we must further emancipate our minds. He said: To successfully implement the spirit of the 12th National Party Congress in Hunan, what counts is that our leading cadres at all levels must make great efforts to master the documents of the 12th National Party Congress, conscientiously sum up historical experiences, draw (?lessons), develop the range of our thinking, conscientiously keep pace with plans formulated by the central authorities and be bold in opening up new prospects.

After listing some cases in which our province failed to successfully keep pace with some important issues put forward by the central authorities for a period of time following the 3d plenary session of the 11th CPC Central Committee, Comrade Wan Da said: Despite the fact that we have a lot of work of and scored some achievements in eradicating the leftist influence over the past few years, and although we still have to pay vigilant attention to and overcome the possible occurrence of rightist things, we must not underestimate the influence of leftist ideology and the influence of the two whatevers. We should review our past experiences and lessons. In accordance with the line, guiding principles and policies formulated by the central authorities since the 3d plenary session of the 11th CPC Central Committee, we should do well in thinking over the following questions: What problems have been solved? We have not freed ourselves from old ideas about some issues. What are these issues? What are the problems which we should attentively prevent? Thinking over these questions will greatly benefit our study and implementation of the spirit of the 12th National Party Congress.

Comrade Wan Da also discussed the plan for work to be carried out this winter and next year and the issue of improving and strengthening our party leadership: This winter and next year, our province must do well in emphatically grasping the following tasks:

1. Do well in grasping the study of the documents of the 12th National Party Congress as the first task of primary importance.
2. Do well in conscientiously restructuring administrative organs. In restructuring administrative organs in our province, we must act in accordance with the plan of the central authorities and conscientiously grasp this work. To successfully carry out this important task, leaders at all levels must have great determination, advance steadily and conduct painstaking ideological work.
3. Comprehensively fulfill all economic tasks for this year and actively formulate long-term plans. In agriculture, we must do well in grasping the management work concerning late rice and industrial crops at the later stage of their growth and strive to reap a bumper harvest in an all-round way. Industrial production tasks for the fourth quarter are very heavy. Party committees and governments at all levels must concentrate their energies to promote industrial production. All trades and professions must do well in making preparations for further promoting our national economy next year.
4. Strive to do well in grasping the building of socialist spiritual civilization and the building of socialist democracy.
5. Do well in conducting tests in party consolidation at selected points and make preparations for comprehensively consolidating party organizations.

The participating comrades conscientiously studied Comrade Wan Da's speech. After discussing and adopting Comrade Wan Da's report [as heard] at the second meeting of the seventh enlarged plenary session of the Fourth Provincial CPC Committee held yesterday morning by the Provincial CPC Committee, the seventh enlarged plenary session was declared successfully closed.

GUANGDONG MUNICIPALITY STRESSES OPEN-DOOR POLICY

HK091121 Guangzhou Guangdong Provincial Service in Mandarin 1000 GMT 7 Oct 82

[Summary] The standing committee of the Foshan Municipal CPC Committee has linked reality with the serious study of the documents of the 12th CPC National Congress and taken note of that section which calls for persistently relying on our own resources to seek rejuvenation and enlarging economic and technical exchanges with foreign countries. It has further realized the great strategic significance of the open-door policy introduced by the CPC Central Committee. It has resolved to further develop the superior features of economic activities with foreign countries and accelerate economic development, contributing to the creation of new situation in socialist modernization.

In studying the CPC National Congress documents, the standing committee of the Foshan Municipal CPC Committee recalled what it was like before and after the introduction of the open-door policy by Foshan Municipality. "Before the 3rd plenary session of the 11th CPC Central Committee, due to the influence of leftist thinking, foreign capital that could be drawn upon could not possibly be used. Advanced techniques and equipment and management experiences that should have been introduced from foreign countries were not brought in because of fears. This interfered with the rate of development. After the 3d plenary session of the 11th CPC Central Committee, the superior features of economic activities with foreign countries were developed. In 3 years, foreign exchange from trade more than doubled. Through the use of foreign exchange kept by certain areas on a percentage basis, the processing of materials supplied by customers, compensatory trade and other channels, 5,000 pieces of equipment of various kinds and a number of spare parts needed in production were imported. The development of economic activities with foreign countries stimulated the enlivening of the whole economy. The total industrial output value of Foshan Municipality rose 56 percent. The problem of employment was basically solved and the people's living standard was improved."

After a review of the achievements in the past 3 years, the comrades of the standing committee personally felt the brilliant correctness of the party's policy of enlivening the economy at home and opening the door to foreign countries. "They realized that the open-door policy had not been come by easily. It was a result of the party's triumph over leftist thinking. The 12th CPC National Congress has reiterated the open-door policy and defined it as a fixed strategic guideline in economic construction. This is a great victory for the party's down-to-earth ideological line. In the past, some people were too fearful of policy changes. The 12th CPC National Congress has called for continuing and developing the general and specific policies followed since the 3rd plenary session of the 11th CPC Central Committee. People now have set their minds at ease. They have become more enlightened ideologically, more convinced and more energetic in their work."

After summing up the experiences and lessons in economic activities with foreign countries in the past 3 years, the comrades of the standing committee of the Foshan Municipal CPC Committee have realized the relationship between the open-door policy and the seeking of rejuvenation through self-reliance. They have strengthened their awareness of the implementation of this strategic guideline.

"When this municipality first introduced the open-door policy, it lacked experience. It acted upon whatever was suggested by foreign businessmen. Later, after investigation and the summing-up of experiences, the Municipal CPC Committee suggested that in introducing imports, we should stress our own needs and select those items that are not available in our country, or are in extremely short supply in domestic and international markets. Only important equipment was to be imported. Emphasis was put on studying and assimilating foreign equipment and techniques. Thus, the capacity of equipment and the technical level were raised throughout the municipality."

The comrades of the standing committee of the Foshan Municipal CPC Committee have realized that the aim of economic technical exchanges is to strengthen the ability to rely on our own resources and stimulate the development of the national economy.

SHANDONG UNCOVERS ILLEGAL RESIDENT REGISTERS

SK081008 Jinan Shandong Provincial Service in Mandarin 2300 GMT 7 Oct 82

[Text] According to our sources, the Liaocheng Prefectural CPC Committee, Shandong Province, recently dealt with violations of the law and breaches of discipline in which the Liaocheng County Public Security Bureau secretly approved applications submitted by a large number of peasants who attempted to change their agropopulace registers to nonagropopulace ones.

Before 1979 the provincial CPC committee once seriously criticized the Liaocheng County Public Security Bureau for its illegal approval of a large number of cases of changing agropopulace registers to nonagropopulace ones. However, without drawing lessons from the criticism, the bureau overstepped its authority to approve 305 applications for changing agropopulace registers to nonagropopulace ones from 1980 to the end of 1981 by exceeding the state quota for this regard and flaunting the banner of implementing the policy. As of now, 254 peasants have moved out to settle in other places, exerting bad influence in the society. Measures adopted by the bureau were vicious, such as collectively practicing fraud, running counter to the policy, concocting various pretexts, arbitrarily setting forth policies, and abusing their power to arrange peasant settlement in urban areas. At the bureau CPC committee meeting held on 28 October 1980, 107 application cases were approved without higher level permission. On 8 December 1981, (Liu Meian), deputy director of the county public security bureau and member of the bureau CPC committee, sponsored a meeting full of food and drink at the collecting post. After eating at the meeting, they privately approved 51 application cases for settling in urban areas.

By attaching great importance to the violations and breaches perpetrated by the county public security bureau, the provincial and Liaocheng Prefectural CPC Committee organized fact-finding groups at two levels to carry out investigations. However, the fact-finding groups encountered a lot of obstruction devised by the county public security bureau, which also employed trickeries to fool the groups.

To enforce party discipline and straighten out the party work style, the Liaocheng Prefectural CPC Committee resolutely rescinded all illegal application cases which had been approved by the bureau and strictly dealt with pertinent personnel who had committed mistakes. The prefectural CPC committee punished (Shi Dingshen), Standing Committee member of the county CPC committee, secretary of the county public security bureau CPC committee and director of the county public security bureau; and (Liu Meian), member of the bureau CPC committee and deputy director of the county public security bureau, by dismissing them from their posts inside and outside the party. The prefectural CPC committee also punished (Sun Mingwen), member of the public security bureau CPC committee and deputy director of the county public security bureau by placing him on probation within the party for 2 years and dismissing him from his posts as CPC committee member and deputy director.

The provincial CPC committee recently issued a circular urging party committees at all levels to adopt effective measures to strictly control the conversion from agropopulace registers to nonagropopulace ones and to resolutely solve problems arising in changing agropopulace registers to nonagropopulace ones. In particular, all conversion cases approved by leading cadres for their relatives by taking advantage of their position and power and employing back-door deal should be earnestly checked and rescinded in a down-to-earth manner. As to serious cases, it is necessary to find out pertinent personnel who are to blame for the conversion.

SHANGHAI COMMISSAR DISCUSSES CONGRESS GUIDELINES

OW171152 Shanghai JIEFANG RIBAO in Chinese 10 Oct 82 [no page given]

[Text] On 7 October, Zhang Chen, political commissar of the Shanghai Garrison District, gave a lecture on the 12th CPC National Congress' guidelines to a certain regiment and answered questions encountered by the cadres and fighters in their studies.

Comrade Zhang Chen came to the regiment on 4 October together with an office work group. Before the lecture he participated in a squad discussion, convened a forum and familiarized himself with the questions encountered by the cadres and fighters in their studies. Then, based on the gains from his study, he prepared his lecture in earnest. During the lecture Comrade Zhang Chen answered questions brought up by the cadres and fighters such as: Is it possible to bring about a basic change for the better in party workstyle? What are the grounds for striving to quadruple the gross annual value of industrial and agricultural production by the end of this century? Why do we say that the new leading organs of the party Central Committee have expedited the cooperation between the old and the new cadres and the succession of the new to the old? In answering these questions Comrade Zhang Chen pointed out: In light of the atmosphere of the whole party, we should affirm that the mainstream is good and that the people engaged in evil practices within the party are minority. Besides, the party Central Committee is determined to rectify the party workstyle and has, in the past few years, taken measures to gradually improve party workstyle. The new party constitution adopted by the 12th CPC National Congress has put even more stringent requirements on party members and cadres. The central authorities have decided to carry out well-planned, step-by-step party consolidation work beginning the latter half of next year. This has provided a sure guarantee for a change in party workstyle. Therefore, I am sure we will be able to bring about a basic change for the better in our party workstyle. Comrade Zhang Chen's answers helped all cadres and fighters deepen their understanding and gave them more confidence.

A few days ago Jia Defa and Jia Jiping, deputy commanders of the garrison district, and Wang Kai, deputy political commissar, and others as well, led separate work groups to grassroots units to lecture on the 12th congress' guidelines.

COMMENTARY ON IMPORTANCE OF COMMUNIST IDEOLOGY

SK120558 Changchun Jilin Provincial Service in Mandarin 1100 GMT 11 Oct 82

[Station commentary: "Study of Communist Ideology Is the Prominent Task for the Younger Generation"]

[Text] Following the guidance of the 12th CPC Congress, the 9th Jilin Provincial CYL Congress successfully concluded. Let us warmly congratulate its successes.

Comrade Hu Yaobang unequivocally pointed out in his report at the 12th CPC Congress that at the present stage we must demand that Communist Party members and CYL members acquire communist ideology. This is a call of the CPC Central Committee and an important task for all CYL organizations. To study communist ideology is a prominent task for the younger generation.

Communism is the inevitable outcome of human social development and our loftiest ideal. However, we must see that at present a few young people have the muddled idea that communism has slim hopes of success and is unreachable. Without the study of communist ideology, such a muddled idea will not be cleared up and the initiative in devoting all one's life to the communist cause will not be aroused.

In studying communist ideology, we should first study and master Marxist and Leninist theories. We should conscientiously study the basic principles of Marxist philosophy, political economics and scientific socialism. We should study the documents of the 12th CPC Congress and the history of modern China, the Chinese Communist Party and social development. We should gradually master the theories on the basic principles of communism and on the objective law of social development.

In studying communist ideology, we should not study books only. We should also study its practice. We should vigorously participate in the activities for promoting the socialist material and spiritual civilizations, because in these activities communist factors keep developing. Participation in such activities is conducive to cultivating our communist ideology, ethics and values.

In studying communist ideology, we should resist, criticize and overcome, with communist ideology, the corrosion by bourgeois ideology and remnant feudal ideology. We have already enhanced our vigilance against the corrosion by capitalist life style; however, we have not done enough in guarding against corrosion by capitalist ideology and culture. We should see that corrosion by the latter can exert greater influence and is more dangerous than that by the former. We should wage a struggle to combat the corrosion and build a great ideological wall to resist the capitalist [word indistinct] poisonous substance and guard against the peaceful evolution, so that we can always be successful in the struggle between corrosion and anticorrosion.

We are firmly convinced that with the inspiration of the guidelines of the 12th CPC Congress, a new communist style will develop and a great number of young people with communist awareness will be brought up by the great school of CYL.

FUCHUAN COUNTY CHECKS BACK-DOOR PROMOTIONS

HK130747 Nanning Guangxi Regional Service in Mandarin 1130 GMT 12 Oct 82

[Text] Fuchuan County CPC Committee, in the course of studying the documents of the 12th CPC National Congress, has seriously upheld principles and straightened out the party's work style, and has dismissed a number of cadres' children and relatives who got their jobs as cadres or workers and who were promoted to the rank of cadre from workers or were changed from collective workers to state workers through the back-door and personal relations which violated the party's policies and stipulations.

Over the past years, some leading cadres in Fuchuan County made use of their power, violated policy stipulations and assigned jobs as workers in urban districts to their children and relatives. Some promoted their children and relatives to posts as cadres or shifted their positions as workers in collective enterprises to those in state-run enterprises. In those days, the county party committee, hindered by human feelings, did not tackle these problems. As a result, the masses made many complaints.

Recently, after seriously studying Comrade Deng Xiaoping's opening speech and the part of Comrade Hu Yaobang's report dealing with rectifying party work style, leading members of the county party committee analyzed these problems and considered that they were a manifestation of unhealthy party work style and must be straightened out resolutely. They were determined to implement the spirit of the 12th Congress with actual actions. Then, personnel from the discipline inspection, personnel affairs and labor departments were organized into a group led by a vice secretary of the county party committee specializing in checking up and clearing people who were appointed cadres and workers in violation of policies. This group took charge of the children and relatives of leading cadres at the county level. All departments under the county authorities also organized their strength to tackle their problems.

Now the first 19 people who have been dismissed are all children and relatives of former and current leading members of the county party committee. Following the lead of the county leaders, leaders at lower levels have also taken the lead in removing their children and relatives from their posts gained in violation of policies.

NEW FUJIAN VICE GOVERNOR INTERVIEWED

HK180603 Beijing ZHONGGUO XINWEN SHE in Chinese 0850 GMT 15 Oct 82

[Report by ZHONGGUO XINWEN SHE reporter Zhou Jingluo [0719 2529 3157]: "Visiting Lu Dongming, New Vice Governor of Fujian"]

[Text] Fuzhou, 15 Oct (ZHONGGUO XINWEN SHE)--A new vice governor has been appointed recently in Fujian Province. He takes charge of three bureaus (of machine building, electronics industry and defense industry) and three municipalities (Fuzhou, Xiamen and Sanming). He goes to the office in a small old car. He does not need a bodyguard. When he works in a factory, he eats and lives together with the workers. He is Lu Dongming, 51, a native of Shanghai and the general manager of the East Fujian Electrical Machinery Company. Before taking the leading post in the provincial government, he was an enterprise leading cadre with exceptional courage and insight. The people of Fujian place high hopes on him.

Lu Dongming attended the 12th CPC National Congress not long ago. Your reporter visited him after his return to Fujian.

Lu Dongming is not very tall in stature. He thinks very clearly and talks frankly, showing the qualities of an intelligent leading cadre.

He said: The Fujian Provincial CPC Committee has called an enlarged meeting to act immediately in accordance with the demands of the 12th CPC Congress to create a new situation in socialist construction. To create a new situation, Fujian needs an economic policy suited to its actual conditions. Fujian, he added, should develop a diversified economy because it does not have many big mines but has a unique geographical environment together with natural resources of different kinds suitable for developing, in its own fashion, agriculture, forestry, animal husbandry, sideline production, fisheries, water conservancy, navigation, tourism and heavy and light industries. It should adopt a policy of opening to the outside. Situated on the southeastern coast of China, it is a window of the state opening to the outside. It is culturally developed and is the homeland for a multitude of patriotic overseas Chinese. It wants not only to develop economic cooperation with other provinces but also to establish contacts with foreign countries. This imposes still higher demands on Fujian: It is necessary to nurture scientific, technological and managerial personnel of a high level and to continuously turn out new varieties of products and improve their quality. For this reason, it is necessary to learn from other provinces and foreign countries and bring in their advanced technology and equipment. It is also sincerely hoped that the overseas Chinese and the foreign firms will cooperate with Fujian as much as they can.

Lu Dongming stressed: Fujian's market should open to other provinces and foreign countries and become one of China's centers for economic interchange with foreign countries. Products from various parts of the country can be introduced to foreigners in Fujian and the good things of foreign countries can be brought in. The opening of this market will promote industrial development. For this reason, attention should be paid to building and expanding this market.

Lu Dongming still holds the post of general manager of the East Fujian Electrical Machinery Company even though he has been promoted to be a provincial government leader. He said that this would help him understand the conditions of the enterprise and reduce bureaucratism on the part of the enterprise leadership. Led by him directly, the East Fujian Electrical Machinery Company is Fujian's first complex to enjoy full decision making power and be capable of independently conducting economic activities with foreign countries. Its output value has quadrupled since 1977. Its foreign exchange earned through exports increased by 50 percent annually in the past 5 years. Its products sold well in the markets in Hong Kong and in Southeast Asian countries. After the 12th CPC National Congress had issued the great goal, it drew up an ambitious plan of increasing its output value by 100 percent in 1985 as compared with this year. For this reason, Lu Dongming specifically stressed the policy of "struggling for existence by improving the quality of products, making development by increasing the variety of products." This company has set up a production development department specially for studying, designing and testing new products, and has put an effective management system and some strict quality control measures into practice. After joining the East Fujian Electrical Machinery Company in 1958, Lu Dongming worked successively at the posts of technician, engineer, deputy factory director responsible for technology and factory director. He has accumulated rich experience ranging from production techniques to enterprise management and has taken his own path. In future, he will embark on a new march of developing a provincial industrial economic management system. He once said seriously to Xiang Nan, first secretary of Fujian Provincial CPC Committee: "Our work should develop and our cadres should go down to the grassroots levels. I shall have the right to speak only when industry in the province has developed." He also said: "The actual strength of a group of people who are not united means nothing. Only by working concertedly can we run our factory well. Attention should be paid to arousing the enthusiasm of the middle-aged intellectuals and the enthusiasm of the young workers who are lagging behind."

Lu Dongming is revolutionary, young, well educated and professionally competent, meeting the requirements for cadres laid down by the CPC. From him, people can see the splendid image of China's leading cadres of a new generation.

PROFESSIONAL CADRES TRAINED SYSTEMATICALLY

SK170930 Jinan Shandong Provincial Service in Mandarin 2300 GMT 16 Oct 82

[Text] In order to ensure that the ranks of cadres become more revolutionary, younger in age, better educated and more professionally competent to suit the needs of the construction of socialist modernization, our province has systematically trained young and middle-aged cadres by stages and in groups to normalize and systematize the education of cadres step by step.

Since 1980, our province has begun to train cadres in a systematic way. In the past 3 years, 1,607 cadres entered training courses in three groups. Training courses have been set up in eight institutions of higher learning including Shandong University, Shandong Engineering College, Shandong Agricultural College, Shandong Economic College and Qufu Normal College. So far, one group of 461 students has been graduated and has returned to their working posts. Through two years' systematic study, they remarkably upgraded their standards of political theory, policy and professional knowledge. Some cadres went from being laymen to being professional experts. Through strict training and collective activities, their sense of organizational disciplines was generally enhanced and their ideology, workstyle and mental attitude were gratifyingly improved.

The following are our province's experiences in training cadres:

1. The provincial CPC committee attached importance to strengthening their leadership and entrusted the organizational department of the provincial CPC committee to take charge of the training work in cooperation with the propaganda department of the provincial CPC committee and with the great assistance of the provincial planning, financial, educational and capital construction departments.
2. The province was willing to make full use of intellect investment to settle the outlay issue. Under the situation of financial difficulties, the provincial CPC committee decided to allocate 3.2 million yuan from the local financial departments for starting training courses for cadres.
3. Remuneration was clearly fixed for those cadres engaged in training courses. During the period of schooling, students were paid as well as cadres at working posts by their former units. Charges for medical treatment were paid by former units. If badly off, they could ask their former units for a subsidy. During the period of schooling, every student was subsidized two jiao for living expenses and every student was subsidized 20 yuan for research expenses every year. Those who passed the graduation examinations will be paid equal to college graduates.

4. All relevant institutions stipulated definite teaching programs and practically enhanced the ideological education and organizational management in line with the objective of training courses.

GUANGXI RADIO COMMENTS ON FEAR OF POLICY CHANGES

HK180655 Nanning Guangxi Regional Service in Mandarin 1130 GMT 17 Oct 82

["Radio Talks": "Keep the Policies Unchanged for a Long Time and Vigorously Promote Production With Ease of Mind"]

[Excerpts] Since the region instituted production responsibility systems, the peasants' enthusiasm for production has soared to an unprecedented height and excellent changes have rapidly taken place in the rural situation. Many rural households have full stocks of grain and oil and large numbers of pigs and poultry. They are becoming more and more prosperous. The peasants everywhere have said that the institution of production responsibility systems is excellent.

However, the peasants also have some worries amid their happiness. Can the production responsibility systems be maintained for a long time? Will we go back to eating out of a big pot again? Some people say, it is not so now but it will be in the future; the production responsibility systems will only last a certain time, so there is no point in thinking about the long term. They are therefore still inhibited to some extent in production and fail to make long-term plans. When undertaking production contracts, they are only willing to do things that yield benefit in the short term and do not want to undertake projects from which they will only benefit after several years. They dare not spend too much labor or manure on certain responsibility fields.

Actually, all this represents a misunderstanding. We can fully believe that the central committee is resolved to correct leftist errors. And this is indeed a fact. Our party has consistently been endeavoring to do this since the 3d plenary session of the 11th Central Committee. The recent 12th Party Congress fully affirmed the line, principles and policies since the 3d plenary session. This is also the case with the production responsibility systems. Comrade Hu Yaobang clearly stated in his report at the congress: We must maintain the production responsibility systems for a long time. We can only gradually perfect them on the basis of summing up the masses' practical experience; we absolutely cannot violate the masses' desires and change them at will, and still less can we go back to the old road. Leading central comrades have also pointed out many times that we must be resolved to continue to promote the various types of production responsibility system.

The party Central Committee means what it says. There is no need for people to doubt it or get worried. Let us vigorously promote production with ease of mind and make greater contributions for the sake of creating a new situation in all fields of socialist modernization.

JILIN HOLDS TELEPHONE CONFERENCE ON ENLISTMENT

$K180440 Changchun Jilin Provincial Service in Mandarin 1100 GMT 17 Oct 82

[Text] On 15 October, the provincial government and the provincial military district held a joint telephone conference on enlistment to sum up achievements in the previous enlistment work and to set forth demands on how to make a success of this work in the next stage.

The conference noted: Under the guidance of the 12th party congress and because of the great attention paid by party committees at all levels, the leaders' personal participation, the enthusiasm and efforts of the enlistment departments at all levels and the great support by the PLA units that are ready to receive draftees, the province's previous stage of enlistment work has progressed smoothly.

To successfully fulfill the enlistment task, the conference called on all localities to do a good job in spot checking and double checking the draftees' health conditions to ensure that all of them are of strong physiques. Efforts must be made to do the final draftee selection work well to prevent unqualified persons from being transferred to PLA units. We must also conscientiously rectify party style, correct unhealthy tendencies and guarantee the implementation of policies. In accordance with policies, those persons that do not meet the requirements for age and other conditions, no matter whose children they are, must not be drafted. Efforts must be made to examine and approve the work on deciding to which arm of services the draftee will belong. Prior to this work, efforts must be made to consult with and solicit opinions from comrades of the PLA units that are ready to receive the draftees in an effort to maintain good relations between the two sides. The principle of selecting the best must be conscientiously implemented in order to select for the PLA units those comrades that are comparatively good in physical condition, and in their political, ideological and cultural levels. Propaganda and education work must be carried out in the course of conducting enlistment work. We must have a definite object in view while conducting education for draftees and their parents in line with their ideological reality. Leaders at all levels and comrades in charge of the enlistment work must go to the reality to conduct investigations and studies, to adopt effective measures to solve all problems in a timely manner, to try all possible means to ensure the quality of this year's enlistment work and to make new contributions to creating a new situation in enlistment work.

This meeting was presided over by Li Youwen, chairman of the provincial people's congress Standing Committee. Qiang Xiaochu, first secretary of the provincial CPC committee, attended and spoke at the meeting. In the speech, he touched on in particular his personal experience in studying the documents of the 12th party congress and his preliminary ideas on the province's arrangement for studying the congress guidelines in the days to come. Song Renyuan, vice chairman of the provincial people's congress Standing Committee, read Comrade Hu Yaobang's speech at the first plenary session of the 12th CPC Central Committee.

During the meeting, participants conscientiously studied the documents of the 12th party congress and held group discussions on the basis of their understanding of the congress guidelines. In line with the reality and the grand objective on our country's economic construction set forth at the 12th party congress, they talked freely about their understanding and impressions of the congress documents. They said with confidence that they will enhance their spirit, work hard and stand fast at their posts and will contribute to creating a new situation in all fields of socialist modernization and achieving the fighting tasks set forth at the 12th party congress.

During discussions, they pointed out that in studying documents, we must adhere to the principle of integrating theory with practice and the spirit of dealing with concrete matters relating to work, combine our study with our work and correctly implement the congress guidelines so as to create a new situation in all work as soon as possible.

At the plenary meeting held on 16 October, participants listened to a report by the provincial financial department on the implementation of the 1982 financial budget plan during the January-September period; a report by the provincial price committee on the implementation of the stipulations concerning several issues of Jilin Province's price management and a report by the provincial public security department on the situation of consolidating social order. After that, they conducted enthusiastic discussions and maintained that these three reports accord with our province's actual situation and that the government has done a lot of work in this regard and has scored achievements. They expressed their satisfaction with this. In addition, they also pointed out that in regard to the existing difficulties and unsolved problems that arise in the course of carrying out the above work, strenuous efforts must be made to grasp them firmly and well in order to make greater achievements in a short period of time to fulfill our province's revenue and expenditure plan for this year, to achieve a fundamental improvement in social order and to ensure stability in commodity prices. Some committee members also came forward with some ideas and suggestions concerning this work.

The meeting unanimously adopted a resolution on striving for a rapid improvement in the financial and economic situations. During the meeting, participants also examined and approved a report submitted by the provincial people's procuratorate and the provincial higher people's court on extending the time limit for handling criminal cases; endorsed additional decisions concerning the issue of time limits for handling criminal cases; and discussed and decided on the appointment and removal of personnel.

Also attending the meeting were vice chairmen of the provincial people's congress Standing Committee, including Zhao Tianye, Xu Shouxuan, Liu Cikai, Zhang Kaijing, Wu Duo, Cheng Shengsan and Ren-qin-zha-mu-su. Dong Xin, deputy governor; Wang Jiren, president of the provincial higher people's court; Xin Cheng, chief procurator of the provincial people's procuratorate, and responsible persons of the provincial public security and financial departments, the provincial price committee, the personnel affairs bureau and other departments concerned as well as responsible persons of various municipal and autonomous prefectural people's congress Standing Committees and offices of the provincial people's congress Standing Committee set up in various localities and responsible persons of the people's congress Standing Committees of various counties, cities and districts attended the meeting as observers.

The 14th meeting of the Fifth Provincial People's Congress Standing Committee which concluded today endorsed a resolution on striving for a rapid improvement in the financial and economic situations. The resolution reads: The people's governments at all levels and the people of various nationalities throughout the province have conscientiously implemented the guidelines of the fourth session of the Fifth Provincial People's Congress, done a lot of work and scored relatively good achievements. The situation of revenue and expenditures in the past 9 months was good. However, because of a crop failure caused by disasters this year, economic benefits are comparatively poor in some enterprises. Therefore, we must not take lightly the issue concerning the realization of a balanced revenue and expenditure.

The resolution points out: To ensure the realization of a balanced revenue and expenditure this year, the people's governments at all levels and all enterprises and establishments must further launch activities on increasing production and economizing on expenditures, attend to readjustment and consolidation of enterprises and establishments with a focus on raising economic results, implement responsibility systems in the economic sphere, improve management, improve product quality, and reduce production cost in an effort to increase production and income and to change deficits to profit. Efforts must be made to strengthen the planning and management of capital construction to avoid blindly carrying out duplicated projects, mobilize the broad masses of people to practice economy, to combat waste, to strictly control expenditure and not to exceed the financial budget. Efforts must be made to strengthen [word indistinct] governing financial and economic affairs and supervision over this work. Those who violate the financial and economic discipline must be investigated to affix personal responsibility, and serious violators must be punished according to law.

The last part of the resolution urges: the people of various nationalities and the broad masses of people throughout the province must conscientiously study and implement the guidelines of the 12th party congress, go all out, work hard and struggle to achieve a rapid improvement in our province's financial and economic situation.

SEVENTH IN SERIES ON REVISED CPC CONSTITUTION

OW311220 Beijing Domestic Service in Mandarin 2320 GMT 22 Oct 82

[Seventh in a series of questions and answers on the study of the party Constitution adopted by the 12th National CPC Congress: "How To Get a Basic Understanding of the Superiority of the Socialist System?"--by the General Section of the Research Office Under the CPC Central Secretariat]

[Excerpts] The general program of the new party Constitution points out that fundamentally speaking, the socialist system is incomparably superior to the capitalist system, having eliminated the contradictions inherent in the capitalist system, which the latter is incapable of overcoming.

How then to get a basic understanding of the superiority of the socialist system then? We may answer this question in the following three respects:

First, socialism is incomparably superior to capitalism in respect to the economic system. This is first reflected in the public ownership of the means of production under socialism, as against the capitalist private ownership which can open a broad road for the development of a society's productive forces. Another proof is in the fact that socialism calls for practicing the principle "from each according to his ability, to each according to his needs" on the basis of public ownership of the means of production. This gives the development of social production a tremendous innate motive force.

Second, socialism is incomparably superior to capitalism in respect to the political system. Socialism brings about the political system of proletarian dictatorship--called people's democratic dictatorship in China--that truly enables the people to become masters of the country. In capitalist society, so-called democracy and freedom are simply words with empty meanings. The capitalist systems of the separation of the legislative, executive and judicial functions of government; parliament; general elections; and the regulations guaranteeing freedom of speech, freedom of publication and freedom of assembly and association, and so on, are all established on the foundation of the capitalist system of private ownership, a system that is characterized by man exploiting man.

all these are but a means for the bourgeoisie to preserve the capitalist system of private ownership and deceive and oppress the proletariat and the laboring people. They are not to be shared by the broad masses of laborers. The democracy of a socialist society is enjoyed by the vast majority of the people, whereas democracy in a capitalist society is designed for a handful of the people of the capitalist class. There is a world of difference between the two kinds of democracy. One simply cannot be compared to the other.

Third, socialism is incomparably superior to capitalism, as well as to all prior socialist systems in respect to spiritual civilization. In a socialist society, because of the establishment of the public ownership of the means of production and the elimination of the system of man exploiting man and the fact that the fundamental interests of all of its people are one and the same, it is possible for the people to gradually do away with the old ideas and ways formed under the system of exploitation and private ownership of the means of production and steadily raise their communist consciousness and foster common ideals, common ethics and a common discipline in their own ranks. Communist ideology is the core of socialist spiritual civilization. Guided by communist ideology, the Chinese people have gradually established a spiritual relationship between each other characterized by unity, friendship and mutual concern. The entire society is full of vigor and vitality.

In the capitalist countries, spiritual life is very dejected and decadent because of the existence of the system of exploitation and the intrinsic selfish nature of the bourgeoisie. The common criterion of social conduct is money is everything and everything is for the individual. The capitalist society's contradiction phenomenon between material civilization and spiritual degeneration is the inevitable outcome of the practice of the capitalist system of private ownership. This is a morbid state of the entire society which it is unable to overcome. There is an increasing number of people who feel that they do not have a future.

When we compare the different kinds of spiritual civilizations, we will be able to see that none of the spiritual civilizations of past societies can be compared with socialist spiritual civilization.

We have explained the superiority of the socialist system in the above three respects. This is why we must persist in following the socialist road.

The general program of the new party Constitution also points out that the development and improvement of the socialist system is a long historical process. This is another point that calls for our full understanding. We should not lose sight of the fact that the system of socialism represents the initial stage of the system of communist society. This system has been established in China for only 30 and more years. There are still many imperfect areas in this system--whether political or economical, whether in the building of material civilization or spiritual civilization. There are still many problems which require our study and solution.

The socialist system is an unprecedented, completely new system. It is inevitable that this system will experience some twists and turns in the process of development. This is particularly so in the case of China. To build China--a country that began with a backward economy and culture--into a modern, socialist power will prove to be one of the greatest projects of creation ever attempted in the history of mankind. There are many problems pertaining to this cause which past Marxists did not and could not possibly discover and offer their solutions. Therefore, deviations have become inevitable in the course of its development. For example, we made some mistakes in the work of guiding socialist construction. We also witnessed the historical tragedy of the "Cultural Revolution." If these things had not occurred, it can be said with certainty that both the speed and the achievements of our socialist construction would have been greater. In other words, the superiority of the socialist system would have had the opportunity to more fully play its role. However, the very fact that we have smashed the Lin Biao and Jiang Qing counterrevolutionary cliques and corrected the mistakes we committed in our work by ourselves proves that it is determined by the superiority of the socialist system itself that this system is capable of surmounting the difficulties and removing the obstacles that lie in its way and making constant progress in its advance.

Chinese communists, with Comrade Mao Zedong as their chief representative and working for the purpose of establishing socialism in China, have integrated the universal principle of Marxism-Leninism with the concrete practice of the Chinese revolution and guided the people of all nationalities in the whole country in waging a protracted and arduous struggle. Now, socialism is not just a theory in China. It is also a reality in the life of its hundreds of millions of people who are working diligently for it. This is the objective that in fact no force can change.

We firmly believe that our socialist cause is bound to become more and more prosperous as long as the whole party, the whole army and the people of all nationalities of the whole country strive for it. We also firmly believe that the socialist cause is making advances and is bound to gradually win victory throughout the world by developing on the course selected by the people of each individual country as the best suitable to the unique characteristics of their own country.

SHANDONG HOLDS MODEL WORKERS MEETING

SK230934 Jinan Shandong Provincial Service in Mandarin 2300 GMT 22 Oct 82

[Excerpts] The provincial meeting of representatives of model workers and staff and advanced enterprises and establishments ceremoniously opened on 21 October. In October, the sky is high, the weather is fine, the chrysanthemum blossoms are out and the scenery is attractive. With colored flags fluttering in the breeze, the (Dongjiao) Auditorium was permeated with a warm atmosphere of unity and victory. A streamer with the words "warmly celebrate the opening of the provincial meeting of representatives of model laborers" trailed from the auditorium. Above the door of the auditorium, there was a streamer with the words "bravely advance along the course charted by the 12th party congress."

At 0830, some 1,200 model workers and representatives of advanced collectives lined up to enter the meeting place. Attending the meeting were leading comrades of the provincial CPC committee, the provincial people's congress Standing Committee, the Jinan PLA units, the provincial people's government and the provincial CPPCC committee, including Su Yiran, Qin Hezhen, Li Zhen, Gao Qiyun, Li Zichao, Wu Kaizhang, Gao Keting, Wang Jinshan, Zhao Bing'an, Fang Zheng, Xu Jianchun, Wang Zhongyin, Xu Leijian, Lin Ping, Zhou Zhenxing, Chen Lei, Wang Baomin, Song Yimin, Liu Peng, Zhang Jingtao, Zhu Qimin, Zheng Zijiu, Ding Fangming, Wang Zhe, Li Sijing and (Zhang Guiyao). Also attending were responsible comrades of various departments and commissions concerned directly under the provincial authority and of various mass organizations. The meeting ceremoniously opened amid the solemn national anthem. (Zheng Gan), director of the provincial trade union council, presided over the meeting.

Comrade Su Yiran, secretary of the provincial CPC committee and the provincial governor, made a report at the meeting entitled: "Advance Along the Course Charted by the 12th Party Congress and Make Contributions To Creating a New Situation in All Fields of Socialist Modernization." The report is divided into three parts. The first part is entitled: "Carry Forward the Achievements and Strive for New Greater Success."

Having reviewed the excellent situation of our province since the Third Plenary Session of the 11th Party Central Committee and having spoken highly of the important contributions made by the province's model laborers and advanced enterprises and establishments to building the material and spiritual civilization, Comrade Su Yiran said in his report: All workers and staff members in the province should conscientiously learn from the good thinking, workstyle and characteristics of advanced collectives and model laborers under the guidance of the guidelines of the 12th party congress. Meanwhile, they should quietly immerse themselves in hard work, make great efforts to fulfill their duties at their posts, create excellent achievements and strive to win a new and greater victory.

The second part of the report is entitled: "Enhance Our Spirit, Take the Lead in Work and Make New Contributions To Fulfilling Various Tasks Set Forth by the 12th Party Congress." He pointed out: The general task of our party in the new historical period, which was put forward by the 12th party congress, is to unite the people of all nationalities throughout the province to build our homeland through self-reliance, fulfill step by step the modernizations of industry, agriculture, national defense and scientific technology and build China into a socialist country with a high degree of civilization and democracy. Comrade Su Yiran said: This is a glorious historic mission entrusted to the working class by the new historical period. The provincial CPC committee and the provincial people's government have urged advanced collectives, model personages and the broad masses of workers and staff members on all fronts in the province to conscientiously and voluntarily implement the guidelines of the 12th party congress and set examples in building the socialist material and spiritual civilizations.

The title of the third part of the report is: "Strengthen Leadership and Penetratingly and Continually Conduct the Socialist Labor Emulation Drive of Emulating, Learning From, Catching Up With, Helping and in Turn Surpassing Each Other." Comrade Su Yiran emphatically pointed out: Advanced and model personages are a highly commendable key force to build the socialist cause. How to treat advanced personages is not only a matter of the treatment of a specific person, but also a reflection of one's attitude toward the socialist cause. Advanced and model personages are representatives of the advanced productive force. Their thoughts radiate with the light of communism. Their advanced deeds and experiences are valuable wealth to the state and represent the interests of the people. Negating and dealing blows at advanced personages is a practice of negating and dealing blows at communist spirit and socialist cause. From now on, we must be concerned with and love them with ardor and sincerity, raise their political position in society and support them. We should dare to criticize and struggle against those who mock, strike and persecute advanced personages. Those who make serious mistakes should be strictly dealt with according to the law.

As for those leading comrades who are indifferent to and refuse to stop the practice of striking and persecuting advanced personages, their leadership responsibility should be investigated. All leading comrades should support the healthy trends and deal blows at evil trends with a clear cut stand so as to foster throughout the society a new tendency--it is honorable to be a model laborer, to learn from the advanced and to make more contributions to the state.

STUDYING, IMPLEMENTING CONGRESS DOCUMENTS URGED

SK251148 Jinan Shandong Provincial Service in Mandarin 2300 GMT 24 Oct 82

[Station commentary: "We Must Deepen the Study and Implementation of the Documents of the 12th CPC Congress"]

[Excerpts] An initial upsurge in studying the documents of the 12th CPC congress has been created in our province. The distinguishing feature of the study is that leading persons have attached importance to it and have led it effectively with a clearly defined guiding ideology. Party members, cadres and the masses, having a correct style of study, have conducted their study vigorously and conscientiously. In terms of scale and results, this type of study has been rare in recent years. However, the study is only at its beginning. A lot of work remains to be done. The current question is how to deepen the study and implementation of the congress documents in close coordination with reality. To study and implement the congress documents in close coordination with reality, we should, first of all, bear in mind ideological reality and unify our ideological understanding. Only when we unify our understanding can we effect a new start in our work and a great change in our work style.

In order to unify our understanding, we should read the documents again and again to thoroughly understand their guidelines. At present, some comrades have slackened their efforts, thinking that as they have studied the documents and known their guidelines, they have done well enough. This is quite wrong. We should see that the program, policies, principles and tasks set forth at the 12th CPC congress are a continuation and development of the correct line set forth at the Third Plenary Session of the 11th CPC Central Committee, and are a correct application and development of Marxism-Leninism-Mao Zedong Thought under new historical conditions. They strongly aim at practical issues and have a profound theoretical nature. We should exert great efforts if we truly are to master them. It has been less than 2 months since we began to study. How can we say that we have done well enough? We should not feel satisfied with half-baked knowledge, but should put in a lot of effort to deepen the study. After we have studied the documents, we should hold discussions, in line with the ideological reality of cadres and the masses, on a series of important issues put forward in the documents, such as on the great historical change, in fulfilling the grand objective of a three-fold increase, on building the socialist spiritual civilization focusing on communist ideology, on achieving a fundamental turn for the better in party work style and on realizing the cooperation between old and new cadres and the succession of the old by the new in the party's highest echelon, so that problems can be pinpointed and solved correctly.

To study and implement the congress documents in line with reality, we should also bear in mind reality in work. Unifying our understanding is for the purpose of implementing more successfully the tasks set forth at the 12th CPC congress. Fundamentally speaking, one of the most important indicators of how we have studied the documents is our actions. All localities, departments, units, fronts and comrades, bearing in mind the guidelines of the congress and the grand objective of a three-fold increase, should conscientiously think of ways to make their work suit needs in creating a new situation in all fields. They should work out plans and measures and put them into practice, so as to achieve a new standard, create a new situation and win a new success.

All comrades should take the 12th CPC congress as a new start to make new improvements in ideology, work and work style and to be promoters in creating a new situation. All leading comrades should be examples, match their deeds to their words, stand in the van and resolutely prevent and overcome the bad work style of making empty talk without doing solid work. They should improve the art of leadership and work methods, go deep into the reality of life to conduct investigations and study, promote the work in the entire area with the experiences of selected units and give guidance in line with specific conditions. We are convinced that, following the in-depth study and implementation of the congress documents, our work in various fields will be greatly promoted and the tasks set forth at the congress will be successfully fulfilled.

'RENMIN RIBAO' ON CHANGES IN NEW CPC CONSTITUTION

HK271210 Beijing RENMIN RIBAO in Chinese 26 Oct 82 [no page given]

[Article by Cheng Yu [4453 1342] and Tian He [3944 4421]: "What Important Developments and Changes Do We See After Comparing the New CPC Constitution With the 7th and 8th CPC Constitutions?"]

[Text] About the General Program

1. About the nature of the party. The new CPC Constitution rewrites the clause in the 7th Congress' CPC Constitution, which reads "The CPC is an advanced and organized force of the Chinese working class," and the clause in the 8th Congress' Constitution, which reads "The CPC is the advanced force of the Chinese working class" as "The CPC is the vanguard of the working class." It deletes the passage "The supreme form of organization" found in the 7th and 8th Constitutions and adds a passage about the CPC being "the force at the core leading China's socialist cause." It rewrites the passage in the 7th Constitution, which reads "Represents the interests of the Chinese nation and the Chinese people" as "the faithful representative of the interests of the people of all nationalities in China."
2. About the final goal of the party. The new CPC Constitution rewrites the passage in the 7th Constitution which reads "Realizing the communist system in China," and the passage in the 8th Constitution, which reads "Realizing socialism and communism in China" as "realizing the communist social system."
3. About the guiding ideology of the party. The new CPC Constitution rewrites the passage in the 7th Constitution, which reads "The CPC takes the thought that integrates Marxist-Leninist theory with the practice of the Chinese revolution--Mao Zedong Thought--as the guide for its work" and the passage in the 8th Constitution, which reads "The CPC takes Marxism-Leninism as its guide to action" as "The CPC takes Marxism-Leninism-Mao Zedong Thought as its guide to action."

The new CPC Constitution gives a highly summarized narration of the scientific theory of socialism. Concrete narration of this kind cannot be found in the 7th and 8th Constitutions.

The new CPC Constitution gives a relatively comprehensive scientific exposition of the basic characteristics and the tremendous superiority of the socialist system and the prospects of its inevitable gradual victory in the world.

The new CPC Constitution gives a concise scientific exposition of the historical position of Mao Zedong Thought and Comrade Mao Zedong on the basis of the relevant exposition in the "resolution on certain questions in the history of our party since the founding of the PRC" that was approved by the 6th Plenary Session of the 11th CPC Central Committee. We can find no such element in the 7th and 8th Constitutions.

4. About the principal contradiction and the general task of the party. The new party constitution inherits the fine tradition and scientific spirit of the 7th and 8th Constitutions, analyzes the current political and economic situation in our country and clearly points out that "the principal contradiction in Chinese society is between the people's growing material and cultural needs and the backward level of our social production." A similar clause was also written into the general program of the 8th Constitution, but it was not taken as an exposition on the "principal contradiction." The new Constitution also states that "it is essential to strictly distinguish and correctly handle the two different types of contradictions--the contradictions between the enemy and ourselves and those among the people." It also raises the party's general task at the present stage.

5. About the three basic requirements for the construction of the party. The new party constitution sums up the historical experience, adapts itself to the demands of socialist modernization, inherits and develops the party's three major work styles of integrating theory with practice, strengthening close ties with the masses and carrying out self-criticism and stipulates the three basic requirements that must be met in strengthening the construction of our party in the future. The three requirements are maintaining a great degree of political and ideological identity, wholeheartedly serving the people and adhering to democratic centralism.

6. About the leading role of the party. The new party Constitution stipulates the correct principles and methods for carrying out the party's leadership over the political life of the state, the socialist cause and various nonparty organizations. It stipulates that "the party must act within the scope of the Constitution and laws of the state" and that the party organizations at all levels must carry out the division of labor between the party and the government and pay attention to the construction of the party. This cannot be found in the 7th and 8th Constitutions.

Chapter 1. Party Members

7. About what kinds of people can apply for party membership. The new party Constitution introduces stricter stipulations than in the 7th and 8th Constitutions. For example, it rewrites the passage in Article 1 of the 7th and 8th Constitutions on "joining an organization of the party and working for it" as "...working conscientiously for it" and it rewrites the passage in the 7th Constitution, which reads "Can all be admitted into our party" and that in the 8th Constitution, which reads "Can all become members of the party" as "Can apply for membership of the CPC."

8. About what kind of person a party member should be. Taking into account the requirements resulting from the party's leading position in the political life of the state and from the new historical period, the new CPC Constitution rewrites Article 2 and clearly points out that a CPC member is "a communist-minded pioneer fighter of the Chinese working class" and "is always an ordinary member of the laboring people" and that CPC members "must wholeheartedly serve the people and dedicate their whole lives to the realization of communism and be ready to make any personal sacrifices" and "must not seek personal gain or privileges." This cannot be found in either the 7th or 8th Constitutions.

9. About party members' duties. There are stricter and more exacting requirements in the new CPC Constitution than in the 7th and 8th Constitutions. Many new items have been added to the stipulations that are similar to the previous ones. For example, "study essential knowledge concerning the party, and the party's line, principles, policies and decisions; and acquire general, scientific and professional knowledge"; "be the first to bear hardships and the last to enjoy comforts, work selflessly for the public interest, and absolutely never use public office for personal gain or benefit themselves at the expense of the public"; "accept any job assigned by the party"; "firmly oppose factionalism and all factional organizations and small group activities, and oppose double dealing and scheming of any kind"; "refrain from concealing their political views"; "back good people and good deeds and fight against bad people and bad deeds"; "propagate the party's views among the masses"; "help them raise their political consciousness, and defend their legitimate rights and interests"; "take the lead in maintaining public order, promote new socialist ways and customs" and "step forward and fight bravely in times of difficulty and danger, fearing neither hardship nor death."

10. About party members' rights. There are more adequate stipulations in the new CPC Constitution than in the 7th and 8th Constitutions. Examples of additional rights are: "to attend pertinent party meetings and read pertinent party documents, and to benefit from the party documents, and to benefit from the party's education and training"; "to demand the dismissal or replacement of any cadre who is incompetent"; the right "of self-defense" "while other party members may also bear witness or argue on their behalf" which is added to the stipulation in the 8th Constitution that party members have the right "to ask to attend in person" discussion held by party organizations to decide on disciplinary measures to be taken against themselves or to appraise themselves" and "to ask the organizations concerned for a responsible reply" when party members put forward any request, appeal or complaint to higher party organizations up to and including the Central Committee. Another example of the additional content is the clause that no party organization, up to and including the Central Committee, has the right to deprive any party member of his rights as a party member.

11. About recruitment of new party members. The new CPC Constitution stipulates strict principles and procedures. For example, "It is not permissible to drag into the party by any means those who are not qualified for membership, or to exclude those who are qualified," and "a party member on probation must take an admission oath in front of the party flag."

12. About strengthening education in the management of and supervision over party members. In this area, the new party Constitution also makes some new stipulations. For example, Article 8 stresses that every party member, "irrespective of position, must be organized into a branch, cell or other specific unit of the party to participate in the regular activities of the party organization and accept supervision by the masses inside or outside the party. There shall be no privileged party members who do not participate in the regular activities of the party organization and do not accept supervision by the masses inside and outside the party."

Chapter 2. Organizational System of the Party

13. About democratic centralism. The new party Constitution clearly stipulates; "the party is an integral body organized under its program and Constitution, on the principle of democratic centralism." It changes the previous wording of "centralism on the basis of democracy and democracy under centralized guidance" into the party "exercises a high degree of centralism on the basis of a high degree of democracy." As for the previous wording of the "four subordinates"-- "individual party members are subordinate to the majority, the lower levels are subordinate to the higher levels and all the members of the party are subordinate to the Central Committee"; the 8th Constitution's way of summarizing is basically retained, but the wording is made more accurate.

14. About the basic principles of democratic centralism. The new party Constitution draws on experiences and lessons from the past and makes more systematic and more comprehensive stipulations. To the clauses about the relationships between higher and lower organizations, it adds that "higher and lower party organizations should exchange information and support and supervise one another." Concerning the adherence to the principle of combining collective leadership with individual responsibility based on division of labor, it clearly writes: "All major issues shall be decided on by the party committees after democratic discussion." It stipulates, in particular, that "the party forbids all forms of the personality cult. It is necessary to ensure that the activities of the party leaders be subject to supervision by the party and the people, while at the same time to uphold the prestige of all leaders who represent the interests of the party and the people."

15. About internal party elections. The new party Constitution stipulates: "There may be a preliminary election in order to draw up a list for the formal election, or there may be no preliminary election, in which case the number of candidates should be greater than that of the persons to be elected." "No organization or individual shall in any way compel voters to elect or not to elect any candidate." "If any violation of the party Constitution occurs in the election of delegates to a local party congress, the party committee at the next higher level shall, after investigation and verification, decide to invalidate the election and take appropriate measures. The decision shall be reported to the party committee at the next higher level for checking and approval before it is formally announced and implemented."

16. About the correct adherence to the principle of the lower organizations being subordinate to the higher level organizations and the minority being subordinate to the majority. The new party Constitution stipulates: "Lower party organizations must firmly implement the decisions of the higher party organizations." However, "if lower organizations believe that any decisions of higher organizations do not suit actual conditions in their localities or departments, they may request modification. If the higher organizations insist on their original decisions, the lower organizations must carry out such decisions and refrain from publicly voicing their differences, but have the right to report to the next higher party organization."

The new party Constitution stipulates that in discussing and making decisions on any matter, party organizations should adhere to the principle of the minority being subordinate to the majority, but they must carefully consider the different opinions of the minority. "In the case of a controversy over major issues in which supporters of two opposing views are nearly equal in number, except in emergencies where action must be taken in accordance with the majority view, the decision should be put off to allow for further investigation, study and exchange of opinions followed by another discussion. If a decision still cannot be made, the controversy should be reported to the next higher party organization for a ruling." It furthermore stipulates: "When, on behalf of the party organization, an individual is to express views on major issues, he should not go beyond the scope of existing party decisions," that no party member "is allowed to make a decision on major issues on his own," and that "no leader is allowed to decide matters arbitrarily on his own or to place himself above the party organization."

17. About attaching paying attention to party building. The new party Constitution stipulates: "The central, local and primary organizations of the party must all pay great attention to party building. They shall regularly discuss and check up on the party's work in propaganda, education, organization and discipline inspection, its mass work and united front work. They must carefully study ideological and political developments inside and outside the party." We cannot find this in either the 7th or the 8th Constitution.

Chapter 3. Central Organization of the Party

18. About the party's national congress and the party's central committee and two central commissions. The new party Constitution stipulates that the national congress of the party should, in addition to its election of the members of the Central Committee, elect the central advisory commission and the central commission for discipline inspection and hear and examine the reports of these two commissions. The central advisory commission and the central commission for discipline inspection should carry out their work under the leadership of the Central Committee. It also stipulates, in particular, the nature, position, tasks and the requirements for membership of the central advisory commission.

The new party Constitution furthermore stipulates that members and alternate members of the Central Committee must first be party members for 5 years or more.

19. About the central leading organs. The new party Constitution stipulates that in the Central Committee there are no chairman or vice chairmen posts but only the post of the general secretary. The general secretary of the Central Committee is responsible for convening the meetings of the Political Bureau of the Central Committee and its Standing Committee and presides over the work of the secretariat. The general secretary of the Central Committee, the chairman of the central advisory commission, the first secretary of the central commission for discipline inspection and the chairman of the military commission of the Central Committee must all be members of the Standing Committee of the Political Bureau.

It stipulates, in particular, "the central leading bodies and leaders elected by each Central Committee shall, when the next national congress is in session, continue to preside over the party's day-to-day work until the new central leading bodies and leaders are elected by the next Central Committee."

20. About party organizations in the army. Neither the 7th nor the 8th Constitution makes any concrete stipulation on the organizational system and organs of the party in the armed forces. The new party Constitution, however, clearly stipulates: "The organizational system and organs of the party in the armed forces will be prescribed by the military commission."

Chapter 4. Local Organizations of the Party

21. About the local organizations of the party. The new party Constitution stipulates: "The party advisory committee of a province, autonomous region or municipality directly under the central government acts as a political assistant and consultant to the party committee at the corresponding level. It works under the leadership of the party committee at the corresponding level and in light of the relevant provision of Article 22 of the present Constitution. The qualifications of its members shall be specified by the party committee at the corresponding level in light of the relevant provision of Article 22 of the present Constitution and the actual conditions in the locality concerned. It serves a term of the same duration as the party committee at the corresponding level."

The new party Constitution stipulates that members and alternate members of the party committee of a province, autonomous region, municipality directly under the central government, city divided into districts, or autonomous prefecture must be a party member for at least 5 years. Those of the party committee of a county (banner), city not divided into districts, or municipal district must be a party member for at least 3 years.

The new party Constitution clearly stipulates the nature and power of office of the party's local committees and the party organizations at the same level as that of the local committees.

Chapter 5. Primary Organizations of the Party

22. About the tasks and duties of the primary organizations of the party. In addition to the same contents of the 7th and the 8th Constitutions, much new material is added into the new party Constitution concerning the strengthening of education among and supervision over party members and cadres and of the ties between the party and the masses. For example, the primary organizations should "ensure" party members' "regular participation in the activities of the party organization, see that party members truly fulfill their duties and observe discipline, and protect their rights from encroachment"; "value the knowledge and rational proposals of the masses and experts," and "do effective ideological and political work among the masses and enhance their political consciousness." They must correct, by proper methods, the erroneous ideas and unhealthy ways and customs that may exist among the masses and properly handle the contradiction in their midst. In particular, the new party Constitution stipulates that these organizations should "educate party and nonparty cadres; see to it that they strictly observe the law and administrative discipline and the financial and economic discipline and personnel regulations of the state; see to it that none of them infringe upon the interests of the state, the collective and the masses; and see to it that the financial workers, including accountants and other professionals who are charged with enforcing laws and regulations in their own units, do not themselves violate the laws and regulations, while at the same time ensuring and protecting their right to exercise their functions and powers independently in accordance with the law and guarding them against any reprisals for doing so.

The new party Constitution stipulates both in the manner of adhering to the principle and in a flexible manner the leading role or the role of supervision and guarantee of the primary party organizations in enterprises and institutions in accordance with the unique conditions there. This is something we cannot find in either the 7th or the 8th Constitution. It contains clearer and more specific regulations on the duties and responsibility of the primary party organizations in the party's leading organs at various levels.

Chapter 6. Party Cadres

23. About party cadres. This is an entirely new chapter. It clearly stipulates that we should make the ranks of the cadres more revolutionary, younger in average age, better educated and more professionally competent, that party cadres are obliged to accept training by the party as well as examination and assessment of their work by the party, that leading party cadres at all levels must perform in an exemplary way their duties as party members and must meet the basic requirements that it stipulates, that party cadres should be able to cooperate with nonparty cadres, respect them and learn from their strong points with an open mind, that leading party cadres at all levels are not entitled to life-long tenure and that a retirement system should be implemented in our party.

Chapter 7. Party Discipline

24. About party discipline. A specific chapter on "Award and Punishment" is written into the 7th Constitution, but no specific chapter on discipline is written into the 8th Constitution. The new party Constitution contains a specific chapter on party discipline. In the new party Constitution, there are the following new important stipulations on party discipline:

1. We should implement the principle of everybody being equal before party discipline.
2. Party members who violate the law and administrative discipline shall be subject to administrative disciplinary action or legal action instituted by administrative or judicial organs. Those who have seriously violated a criminal law shall be expelled from the party.
3. It is strictly forbidden within the party to take any measures against a member that contravene the party Constitution or the laws of the state, or to retaliate against or frame comrades. Any offending organizations or individual must be dealt with according to party discipline or the laws of the state.
4. In case a party organization seriously violates party discipline and is unable to rectify the mistake on its own, the next higher party committee should, after verifying the facts and considering the seriousness of the case, decide on the reorganization or dissolution of the organization, report the decision to the party committee further above for examination and approval, and then formally announce and carry out the decision.

Chapter 8. Party Organs for Discipline Inspection

25. About party organs for discipline inspection. In both the 7th and the 8th Constitutions, there is a chapter on the control organs of the party. The new party Constitution contains a chapter on the party organs for discipline inspection and furthermore, raises their position and increases their power. Important new specific regulations are as follows:

1. The party's commissions for discipline inspection at all levels are elected by the corresponding party congresses.
2. Local commissions for discipline inspection at all levels function under the dual leadership of the party committee at the corresponding levels and the next higher commissions for discipline inspection.

3. The party's central commission for discipline inspection shall, when its work so requires, accredit discipline inspection groups or commissioners to party or state organs at the central level.

4. The main tasks of the central and local commissions for discipline inspection are as follows: to uphold the Constitution and the other important rules and regulations of the party, to assist the respective party committees in rectifying party style, and to check up on the implementation of the line, principles, policies and decisions of the party.

5. If the central commission for discipline inspection discovers that a member of the central commission has violated party discipline, it may accuse him before the central commission, which must immediately review the case.

6. If a local commission for discipline inspection does not agree with a decision made by the party committee at the corresponding level in dealing with a case, it may request the commission at the next higher level to reexamine the case; if a local commission discovers violations of party discipline or the laws and decrees of the state by the party committee at the corresponding level or by its members, and if the party committee fails to deal with them properly or at all, it has the right to appeal to the higher commissions for assistance in dealing with such cases.

Chapter 9. Leading Party Members' Groups

26. About leading party members' groups. Compared with the 7th and 8th Constitutions, the new regulations in the new party Constitution are as follows: "Giving guidance to the work of the party organization of the unit" is added to the tasks of the leading party members' groups. Moreover, in accordance with the new conditions the following new stipulation is added: "The CPC Central Committee shall specifically determine the functions, powers and tasks of the leading party members' groups in those government departments which need to exercise highly centralized and unified leadership over subordinate units: it shall also determine whether such groups should be replaced by party committees."

Chapter 10. Relationship Between the Party and the CYL

27. About the relationship between the party and the CYL. Like the 8th Constitution, this is written into a specific chapter in the new party Constitution. Where the new party Constitution differs from the 8th Constitution is that it stipulates that the CYL "is a school where large numbers of young people will learn about communism through practice and is the party's assistant and reserve force," and that "those secretaries of league committees at or below the county level or in enterprises and institutions who are party members may attend meetings or party committees at corresponding levels and of their Standing Committees as nonvoting participants."

DISCIPLINE VIOLATIONS--After over 1 year of hard work, Qingpu County in the Shanghai suburbs, the first county that embarked on a major inspection of party discipline, has strictly handled the 202 cases of exposed discipline violations and evil practices and won favorable comments from the people both inside and outside the party. Of the 202 cases exposed in the course of discipline inspection, 180 were verified after investigation, involving 178 party members and cadres at all levels. As a result of the punitive actions taken, 3 were arrested, 2 were expelled from the party, 25 received disciplinary and administrative punishment, 16 were transferred, 57 were requested to pay fines of compensation, 66 were subject to criticism and education, 3 are still being investigated and another 6 have been referred to the "office of the leading group against economic crimes" for further investigation. This vigorous party discipline inspection campaign covered a wide area and the problems exposed are concentrated in three categories: the first category involved a total of 37 cases of corruption--receiving bribes, speculation and fraud. The second category involved 63 cases of improper handling of labor recruitment and housing distribution, making purchases through the back door and seeking special privilege. The third category involved 26 cases of misappropriation of building materials by taking advantage of official position. The people said happily: If we keep up this work, the party's style of work will be basically improved in from 3 to 5 years! [Excerpts] [OW290119 Shanghai JIEFANG RIBAO in Chinese 20 Oct 82 p 1]

DEVELOPED PROVINCES TO AID MINORITY REGIONS

OWL50620 Beijing XINHUA Domestic Service in Chinese 1453 GMT 14 Oct 82

[Excerpts] Yinchuan, 14 Oct (XINHUA)--An important approach to strengthening unity and mutual help between all nationalities, consolidating border defense and speeding up economic construction in minority nationality regions, which entails smaller investments but produces more rapid and better results, is to utilize the favorable conditions of the economically more developed provinces and municipalities to help minority nationality regions develop their economies and carry out economic and technical coordination in terms of techniques, management, qualified personnel, funds and equipment. This was proposed at a discussion meeting on the work of more economically developed provinces and municipalities helping minority nationality regions and on economic and technical coordination, which was concluded on 14 October.

The discussion meeting was jointly sponsored by the State Planning Commission and the State Nationalities Affairs Commission in Yinchuan on 7 October.

After the 3d Plenary Session of the 11th CPC Central Committee, the party Central Committee made a decision on the developed provinces and municipalities giving support to minority areas. As a result, relations were established between Beijing and Nei Monggol, Hebei and Guizhou, Jiangsu and Guangxi and Xinjiang, Shandong and Qinghai, Tianjin and Gansu, and Shanghai and Yunnan and Ningxia, while Xizang enjoyed support from all over the country.

According to incomplete statistics, of the 1,170 projects and more for support and economic and technical coordination at present, 381 have been completed. Without additional state investments, these projects have increased economic results, helped minority nationality regions solve technical difficulties, improved product quality, increased varieties, promoted exploitation of natural resources and the development of talents, trained technical and administrative personnel and sped up construction.

The meeting pointed out: This approach has not only sped up the economic development in minority nationality regions but also deepened the mutual understanding between all nationalities, maintained closer ties between all nationalities and promoted national unity.

The meeting emphatically pointed out: Departments concerned must deepen their understanding of this approach. They must follow the strategic goal proposed by the 12th CPC Congress, proceed from the actual situation in their respective localities and carry out the task step by step in a planned way. It is necessary to give support and carry out economic and technical coordination under the guidance of, and according to the state plan. When selecting projects and units receiving aid, we must give first priority to areas where minority nationalities reside and to border areas.

The meeting also made specific arrangements for some economic questions and for methods of giving support regarding this approach.

Border and mountainous areas have generally restored the establishment of farming-studying centers. Over the past 3 years, the province has maintained an over 95 percent enrollment rate of school-aged children and a 70 percent rate of elementary school pupils who have attended until finishing. Year after year the province has upgraded the teaching quality among elementary schools. By 1985, the province will complete the task of making elementary education universal.

In secondary education, the province has begun to reverse the unitary structure. The province has reduced the number of general senior middle schools from 1,346 in 1978 to 894 at present. Meanwhile, the province has vigorously developed secondary vocational education. Since the 3d plenum of the 11th CPC Central Committee, the province has newly established or reformed 250 technical, vocational and agricultural middle schools. The province has also established 840 vocational training classes. These technical and vocational middle schools have enrolled 33,000 students. At present, the province has over 90,000 technical school students including those in various technical and vocational middle schools run by the state. The proportion of technical and vocational middle school students in total middle school students in the province has been raised from 2 percent in 1978 to 19.6 percent at present.

In higher education, on the basis of restoring, rebuilding, consolidating and upgrading the original higher educational institutions, the province has newly established a number of colleges, universities and short-term vocational junior colleges. According to statistics compiled at the end of 1981, the province had 27 general higher educational institutions that accommodated over 46,000 students. The province has scored a 12.5 percent increase in higher education institutions over the 1978 figure and a 51.3 percent increase in student number.

In year-round education at all levels, after readjustment, the province has had 27 vocational junior colleges in which there are over 12,000 students who received education in a systematic way. There are also 14 higher educational institutions throughout the province which have set up correspondence classes and provided spare-time university courses, which over 15,000 staff and workers are attending. At present, the province has over 14,000 students attending classes provided by the television university. In addition, there are over 1 million staff and workers across the province who are attending the cultural continuation classes. Since the 3d plenum of the 11th CPC Central Committee, the province has wiped out illiteracy among over 960,000 illiterates and reduced its illiteracy rate from 20 percent in the past to 5 percent at present. Meanwhile, the province has established four peasant vocational schools, 10 peasant technical schools, some peasant spare-time middle schools and some peasant junior technical schools, in various localities, the first stage in bringing about an education network conducting cultural and technical training among peasants.

REVIEW OF NIE RONGZHEN'S WORK FOR INTELLECTUALS

HK210514 Beijing GUANGMING RIBAO in Chinese 4 Oct 82 pp 1, 2

[Feature article by GUANGMING RIBAO reporters Dong Kegong [5516 0344 1872], Song Guangming [1345 0342 2492] and Zou Znshou [6760 1344 1108]: "Comrade Nie Rongzhen and Intellectuals"]

[Excerpts] On 22 August, the eve of the 12th Party Congress, the sky over Baidaihe was very clear and the waves were striking at the shore as if they were revealing their inner feelings. To fulfill the wishes of the broad masses of the science and technology workers, we visited the party's veteran proletarian revolutionary Comrade Nie Rongzhen.

Marshal Nie once said to his fellow workers: "Under the leadership of the party and Chairman Mao, I have spent my early years organizing and establishing the armed forces and I am going to spend my later years organizing and establishing a science and technology force." Since 1956, Marshal Nie has been taking infinite pains in organizing and leading scientific and technological work of New China. When we visited science and technology workers, they said: Reviewing the history of scientific development in New China, looking at the science and technology force which has been gradually established and recalling the achievements obtained, how can we forget the arduous efforts of Marshal Nie under the leadership of the party! The people will not forget the work that Marshal Nie did in the past and they also want to listen to the new teachings of Marshal Nie. The hearts of the science and technology workers are always linked with that of Marshal Nie.

"I Am Going to Grasp Science and Technology Work for the Prosperity of the Motherland"

In 1956, Comrade Deng Xiaoping, on behalf of the CPC Central Committee, sought the advice of Marshal Nie on the arrangement of work: Marshal Nie was requested either to grasp work in Beijing Municipality or grasp scientific and technological work. As far as the former was concerned, going to Beijing had many favorable conditions for Marshal Nie because he once took up leadership work in the municipality in the initial stage of the founding of the country. However, Marshal Nie chose the latter. Without hesitation, Marshal Nie said to Comrade Deng Xiaoping: "I will go and grasp scientific and technological work."

When the news spread, some comrades reminded Marshal Nie that work concerning intellectuals is very complicated and "troublesome." Marshal Nie said to them: "The building of socialism cannot be divorced from science and technology or from the intellectuals. In the past, the prevailing conditions did not permit us to use science and technology to change the state's situation of poverty. Now that the conditions permit it, why should we refrain from doing this? I will grasp science and technology work for the prosperity of the motherland and I am not afraid of the troubles."

A firm determination and a strong desire is inseparable from Marshal Nie's long-cherished wish.

The "May Fourth" movement broke out in our country in 1919. The slogan of "Struggling against foreigners for sovereignty and penalizing traitors internally" was shouted throughout the country. The two flags of "democracy" and "science" were appealing to innumerable youths. Why was China humiliated by others? Young Nie Rongzhen was also pondering this question. He felt that this is because China was too poor and backward and that to make China become prosperous and strong, it was necessary to have democracy and advance science and technology and a large number of intellectuals who are determined to rescue the country. With this naive idea of "rescuing the country with science," he started off for a long voyage to France at the end of that year together with more than 100 fine youths to participate in a work-study program.

"We Cannot Do Without the Intellectuals in Order to Win a Victory in the Revolutionary War"

Such a thing happened during the Red Army period. Once a military surgeon had written a wrong prescription for the wounded soldiers and thus some suffered from mental disorder. As a result of this, some people said that this surgeon was a hidden traitor and decided to put him to death. However, this surgeon was very nervous and could not explain the reason. When Marshal Nie learned this, he immediately stopped the action. He said to the lower level cadres that there are only a few people in our revolutionary forces who know science and technology, and we should not quickly suspect people or have no confidence in them. Better still, we cannot indiscriminately put a person to death without carrying out thorough investigations. This would be detrimental to the revolution. He demanded that thorough investigations be made into the case. Later, they finally found out the truth. Actually, the medicines were confiscated from the Kuomintang and the labels had been stuck. Thus, the medicines were misused. This not only saved the surgeon but also educated the cadres and fighters of the Red Army and made them understand that under any circumstances, they must deal with the intellectuals in the revolutionary force in a truth-seeking manner and treat them as their own people. Only when we trust them can we give play to their roles.

While Marshal Nie led the armymen and people in the Jinchaji military district to launch the anti-Japanese struggle, he attached major importance to the role of the intellectuals. He always said to the cadres that "the intellectuals know science and technology and it is necessary to attach importance to them. We cannot do without them in building the revolutionary bases and building the revolutionary armed forces."

"They Are Not Outsiders or Guests But Are Our Own People"

Since the founding of New China, and in particular after the conclusion of the war to resist U.S. aggression and aid Korea, the long-cherished wishes of Nei Rongzhen could be fulfilled. However, there were so many tasks to perform that he did not know what to do first. He knew inside that nothing could be done if there were no capable persons or if the roles of the capable persons were not brought into play. However, old China's scientific research foundation was very weak and there were only a few scientists and technicians engaging in scientific research work during liberation. Confronted with such a situation, many foreign experts held that China would not be able to launch scientific research work until 7 or 8 years later. Marshal Nie did not agree with this view and drew up a plan at heart: Only by organizing well the existing science and technology force can, we not only launch scientific research work but also build a stronger science and technology force by our own efforts and by relying primarily on the existing force. Others are unreliable; we should not wait; or should we refrain from working by ourselves. Marshal Nie answered in a straight-forward manner that: "There are experts in China, although the number is small. However, we can still work." He had full confidence in the country's science and technology workers and in the building and development of the scientific cause. In this way, under the leadership of Premier Zhou, Marshal Nie took over Comrade Chen Yi's work, and started to organize the science and technology force by formulating and implementing the 12-year development plan for science and technology.

For various well-known reasons, it is not easy at all to attach great importance to developing education, science and culture or given full play to the roles of the intellectuals. Due to "political investigations" under the influence of the "leftist" mistakes and restrictions of certain unreasonable "confidential" systems, Chinese experts were refrained from knowing the scientific projects with which foreign experts were well acquainted. Learning of this situation, Marshal Nie was very angry and said: "If you want people to work for you, you must trust and respect them. Is it not true that foreign experts are more reliable than Chinese experts? They are not outsiders or guests but are our own people and are our own comrades. You want others to work for you but have no confidence in them, this is absolutely not a Marxist attitude!" He continued to say that many of us also have the tinge of once having been intellectuals but the difference is that we were admitted into the party 20 or 30 years earlier than the others. Based on this understanding and with the direct interference of Marshal Nie, some regulations were amended and some disturbances were eliminated, thus the scientists' roles were fully utilized and the scientists have given full play to their talents and ability.

"There Is Only a Small Number of Science and Technology Personnel in China, If They Are Not Appropriately Employed, It Is Really a Big Waste"

It is necessary to choose the right general when fighting a battle, and similarly, it is also necessary to correctly employ people in constructing the country. Marshal Nie held that "making use of personnel is a matter of major importance. If the wrong persons are used in fighting a battle, it means shedding more blood. There is only a small number of science and technology personnel in China, if they are not correctly employed, it is really a big waste." He personally grasped the arrangement of work for the existing science and technology workers, enabling those idle science and technology comrades to start working again as soon as possible. He tried every possible way to substantiate the scientific and technological contingent under the existing circumstances and strived to urge those scientists abroad who were willing to return and participate in the construction of the motherland to do. He also transferred some young people, who had certain cultural and technological standards, from the PLA to work in the scientific research front. In order to foster the science and technology force, he personally grasped work in running schools. On the one hand, new academic studies were established in the existing colleges of science and engineering, and on the other hand, some new colleges were also set up. He personally participated in the studies of the principles for running schools and arranged work for capable cadres.

Marshal Nie stressed the principle of studying for the purpose of application and formulated one regulation for the personnel working with him: If the science and technology workers write to say that work has not been appropriately arranged for them. On finding the complaints true, you can write to the units to which they belong on behalf of my office and ask them to solve the problem. If problems remain unsolved, bring them to my attention.

"The Demand That Science and Technology Personnel Be 'Red' Is Not Empty"

In the severe winter of 1960, our country's science and technology front, similar to other fronts, encountered serious difficulties. In order to draw a demarcation line between the policies and correct the tendency of being more "left" than right as far as work toward intellectuals was concerned, and correct certain practices which hampered the development of our country's science and technology, despite poor health, Marshal Nie arrived at the No. 5 college of the National Defense Scientific Commission and the Chinese Academy of Sciences to listen to the opinions of the cadres at all levels and science and technology personnel. At that time, science and technology workers had to shoulder various minor tasks, the time that they spent on scientific research normally did not take up even half of their working hours, and some of them only used one-sixth of their time for doing scientific research.

There were unrealistic "Red" political demands for the science and technology personnel, work was too hastily done and they were indiscriminately labelled "white experts." Some fine party members and scientists were unreasonably "criticized." Many experts were afraid to call themselves "experts." Marshal Nie was very sad about the effects and perils that the "leftist" mistakes brought to the science and technology workers and their work. With so many tasks to perform, he emphatically guaranteed "five-sixths of their time," the criterion of being "Red" and "expert," the party's work style, political and ideological work among the intellectuals and other questions of fundamental importance. Under his direction, "14 suggestions on current work of the Natural Scientific Research Organizations" (referred to below as "14 scientific suggestions"), which was regarded as the first national "scientific constitution," were proposed.

Marshal Nie held that the fundamental task of the research centers and scientists was to obtain achievements and cultivate capable persons in order to serve socialism. Other kinds of work must be launched around this fundamental task or be integrated with it, and conditions must be created for it. The demand that the science and technology workers be politically "Red" should not be empty, as it is necessary to judge a person by his actual performance and not by the words that he says. In a down-to-earth way, Marshal Nie put forth the preliminary criterion for judging the "Redness" of the science and technology workers: First, they must support party leadership; second, they must support socialism and serve socialism with their specialized knowledge. In addition, he also stressed the importance of improving party work style and leadership methods among the scientific research institutes. The "14 scientific suggestions" clearly stipulated that: In leading academic work, party organizations should fully arouse the enthusiasm of the scientists, enabling them to launch democratic discussions and enabling the administrative and academic leading organizations to make decisions which will be consequently implemented by the scientists. The party organizations should not monopolize everything. A responsibility system should be set up for the science and technology workers and they should be responsible for scientific and technological problems. In many research institutes, factories and enterprises, the scientists and the engineers do not have the rights to speak nor have they any responsibilities. All decisions are made by the secretaries or the administrative heads and the merits of the science and technology workers have not been brought into play. This is wrong. The technology workers should be responsible for technical problems. The party members and individuals certainly should implement the political resolutions of the party, however, as far as academic questions are concerned, the academic understanding of an individual party member does not represent the party. The party should not demand that the individual party members support or oppose any academic ideas, and they should be given complete freedom in participating in the academic discussions. The party committee of the research institute is the leadership of the whole institute and the party branch of the research office is like the party branch of party organs and can only play assuring roles.

On 6 July 1961, the political bureau of the CPC Central Committee held a meeting to discuss the "14 scientific suggestions" and the exposition of Comrade Nie Rongzhen. The leading comrade attending the meeting, such as Liu Shaoqi, Zhou Enlai, Zhu De, Peng Zhen, Li Fuchun and others, fully supported the correct opinions of Marshal Nie and fully affirmed that the "14 scientific regulations" was a good document and could be trial implemented. When talking on improving party work style and the work concerning intellectuals, Comrade Deng Xiaoping said: How should the party work? We must create a vivid atmosphere in which the people can feel at ease and make scientific achievements. The party's leading cadres must make friends with the intellectuals, show concern for them and help them. I think we must be good servants who work practically, serve the scientists and help them solve problems. Comrade Zhou Enlai added: We must clarify to the cadres that when we serve the scientists well, they will in turn serve socialism better. All of us are working for socialism. Comrade Liu Shaoqi pointed out: We, the Communist Party, are in power now, but our problem lies in where we have not mastered the objective laws in formulating methods of command. Our task is to further master the laws governing scientific and technological work. We must not exercise blind leadership or pretend to know things that we do not understand at all, otherwise we will collapse. Later, Comrade Mao Zedong also affirmed that correctness of the "14 scientific regulations."

"I Voluntarily Serve the Science and Technology Workers and Their Work"

From beginning to end, Marshal Nie stressed that rear-service work plays a very important role in science and technology work. He said: "When we serve scientific and technological work better, the science and technology personnel will serve socialism better. This is beneficial to the party's cause and is essential to the party." He made clear his stand more than once: "I myself am a caretaker and servant and I voluntarily serve the scientists and technicians and their work."

Instruments, equipment, reference books, information and other rear-service work are essential components of scientific development, and provide an important guarantee for the rapid development of science and technology. However, its importance was not realized by certain comrades at that time. Marshal Nie was always earnestly practicing what he advocated and promoting work in this respect. In 1958, due to an urgent demand for semiconductor research, despite other busy work, Marshal Nie personally got in touch with the Shanghai Municipal CPC Committee and requested them to help solve the question of material supply for the manufacturing of quartz tubes, thus ensuring the progress of the work.

Marshal Nie was always very much concerned with the livelihood of the scientists and technicians. In the early 1960's, while our country encountered a temporary difficult economic situation, he was still concerned with the broad masses of scientists and technicians who were struggling around the clock to tackle modern technical problems. Certain colleges and institutes subordinate to the National Defense Scientific Commission were operating in accordance with the state's 12-year plan for scientific and technological development and were working hard without losing a single minute. Continuous struggle and the short supply of daily necessities weakened the health of many of the scientists and technicians, and some of them even suffered from various diseases. Marshal Nie was very worried and decided to ask for assistance from the large military districts. From the coastal areas in the southeast to the border areas in the northwest, the commanders and fighters of the people's army profoundly understood the wish of Marshal Nie. They preferred to live in poorer conditions and rendered assistance to the scientists and technicians who were working hard for the scientific modernization of the motherland. When the materials arrived, Marshal Nie gave an order to the National Defense Scientific Commission that the fish, meat, beans, kelp and other materials are to be allocated to the scientists and technicians. No other persons are allowed to have them. He even personally drew up and inspected the allocation plans. He also said to the leading comrade who was responsible for this task at that time: "Nobody can have a single tael of them, and you are no exception."

"If Somebody Is To Be Criticized, Do Come and Criticize Me"

Then came the 10 years of turmoil. With a heavy heart, Marshal Nie felt that our country's intellectuals would soon be involved in a catastrophe. He called on the comrades from Beijing and Shanghai to a forum and wanted to draft and submit to the CPC Central a detailed report on committee protecting scientists and technicians. However, this could not be done under the circumstances of that time. Marshal Nie only strived to include protection for the scientists and technicians in the "16 regulations," and eventually put this down as the 12th regulation. Even though this was put down in the "16 regulations," he was still worried and personally talked to Comrade Tao Zhu. He expounded on the important roles of the scientists and technicians and clearly stated that neglecting the role of the intellectuals is incompatible with Marxism, urging Comrade Tao Zhu to protect the scientists and technicians. Comrade Tao Zhu understood the feelings of Marshal Nie. However, due to the sabotage of the two counterrevolutionary cliques of Lin Biao and Jiang Qing, the situation became aggravated. Big-character posters were found everywhere and so were criticism rallies. Big-character posters were also found in the Chinese Academy of Sciences, on which the words "The Chinese Academy of Sciences is black" were written. Marshal Nie became furious on learning this and said: "I think the Chinese Academy of Sciences is Red. If somebody is to be criticized, do come and criticize me!" At that time, the responsible comrades of the Chinese Academy of Sciences were touched. How could they allow Marshal Nie to be criticized on the first front!

From beginning to end, Marshal Nie remained concerned with the safety of the scientists and technicians. Whenever he heard that a certain scientist was being criticized, he would ask his fellow workers to dissuade those who criticized others. Zhongguan Village in Beijing was a place where most of the scientific research units were founded. When Marshal Nie knew that such things as kidnap and destruction of personal belongings took place there, he requested the Beijing garrison command to strengthen their patrols there and stop such things. However, in the wake of an aggravated situation, improved development of the situation was beyond control. In a later stage, the big-character posters of "Down with Nie Rongzhen" were found on the walls of Qianmen. Despite such difficult conditions, our Marshal Nie still indulged in protecting the scientists and technicians. When he thought that certain scientists would be in danger working in the local units, he would "borrow" them and bring them to Beijing under pretext of urgent work.

"I Propose Suggestions to the CPC Central Committee Concerning Major Questions Involving the Intellectuals"

Marshal Nie was in a very good mood after the smashing of the "gang of four." Although he was old and weak, he still attended the National Scientific Conference held on 18 March 1978. Since the 3d plenary session of the 11th CPC Central Committee, the party's policy toward intellectuals has been further implemented and new achievements in scientific work have been incessantly obtained. How happy Marshal Nie was! Although he was no longer in charge of our country's scientific work, his heart remained all the time with the development of the party's scientific and technological development and with the broad masses of the scientists and technicians. As he said: "I propose suggestions to the CPC Central Committee concerning major questions involving the intellectuals." Last year, when he was 82, some scientists and technicians wrote to him, reflecting on certain questions in assessing job titles. After carrying out repeated investigations and considerations, and with deep passion for the intellectuals, Marshal Nie wrote a letter to the CPC Central Committee. He pointed out in the letter that: "As far as current promotion for scientific and technological cadres is concerned, some authorities onesidedly stress the work and dissertations of cadres but have not paid attention to examining their ability in solving practical problems and their actual contributions. Under the influence of such a trend, some doctors are reluctant to consult the out-patients or work in the wards; some teachers are reluctant to teach in the classrooms or give tutorials; some scientists and technicians are reluctant to solve actual problems but are enthusiastic in writing theses. This shows that there are some deviations in certain units involving the promotion of personnel." Marshal Nie held that "promotion of personnel should stress the principle of having both ability and political integrity, and primary attention should be given to performance. Be subordinate to allocation and keep one's mind on one's work is one of the most important criteria."

Marshal Nie is already 83 this year, and several decades of military life and tough work since the founding of the country has weakened his health. However, he immediately accepted our request to visit him and to talk on the questions concerning intellectuals. He freely discussed the roles of intellectuals, expounded on how to arouse the enthusiasm of the intellectuals and put forth the anticipations of the intellectuals. He earnestly said: "Attaching major importance to the intellectuals and bringing the roles of the intellectuals into play is where the fundamental interests of the people lie and is also a key measure for realizing the four modernizations in our country. Neglecting the role of the intellectuals is incompatible with Marxism and the communist cause." He said: "Our party will soon hold the 12th Party Congress. This will be a grand gathering of major importance. The congress will affirm our great goal and strategic tasks of our party in the new era. Our party will lead people of various nationalities throughout the country to open up a new situation in all fields of socialist modernization. When the congress concludes, the whole party will make more efforts in our work and so will the people. Similarly, our intellectuals will also make more strenuous efforts. I hope that, for the sake of the fundamental interests of people of various nationalities throughout the country, we will better implement the policy toward intellectuals and do a better job in work concerning the intellectuals."

We were deeply inspired by the words of Marshal Nie. They proved that the veteran revolutionaries have attached major importance to the intellectuals for the sake of the revolution and the interests of the people. We would like to listen more to the teachings of Marshal Nie. However, the time that Marshal Nie had spent talking with us has greatly exceeded the time limit approved by his doctors, and we were obliged to conclude this visit.
